The Federal Buildings Fund (FBF) finances the activities of the Public Buildings Service which provides space and services for Federal agencies in a relationship similar to that of landlord and tenant.

The FBF, established in 1975, replaces direct appropriations by using income derived from rent assessments which approximate commercial rates for comparable space and services. Rent and other income to the FBF is as follows:

[In millions of dollars]
	2006 actual	2007 est.	2008 est.

The FBF consists of the following activities financed from rent charges:

Construction and acquisition of facilities.—Space is acquired through the construction or purchase of facilities and prospectus-level extensions to existing buildings. All costs directly attributable to site acquisition, construction, and the full range of design and construction services and management and inspection of construction projects are funded under this activity.

Courthouse program.—Included is approximately $47 million for courthouse projects. This will fund one project on the Judiciary’s priority list in 2008.

Repairs and alterations.—Repairs and alterations of public buildings as well as associated design and construction services are funded under this activity. Protection of the Government’s investment, health and safety of building occupants, transfer of agencies from leased space, and cost effectiveness are the principal criteria used in establishing priorities. Primary consideration is given to repairs to prevent deterioration and damage to buildings, their support systems, and operating equipment. This activity also provides for conversion of existing facilities and non-prospectus extensions.

Installment acquisition payments.—Payments are made for liabilities incurred under purchase contract authority and lease purchase arrangements. The periodic payments cover principal, interest, and other requirements.

Rental of space.—Space is acquired through the leasing of buildings including space occupied by Federal agencies in U.S. Postal Service facilities, 178 million rentable square feet in 2007, and 184 million rentable square feet in 2008.

Building operations.—Services are provided for Government-owned and leased facilities, including cleaning, utilities and fuel, maintenance, miscellaneous services (such as moving, evaluation of new materials and equipment, and field supervision), and general management and administration of all real property related programs including salaries and benefits paid from the FBF. The following list shows the 2007 and 2008 direct program (estimated square feet and expenses in millions):

Cleaning	174	279	181	287

Space acquisition		200		185

Total		2,099		2,132

Other programs.—When requested by Federal agencies, the Public Buildings Service provides building services such as tenant alterations, cleaning and other operations, and protection services which are in excess of those services provided under the commercial rental charge.

cally suitable to their needs. Relocation and disposal is considered when the benefit/cost ratio is at least 2:1. The sale of these valuable underutilized properties would provide significant revenue to the Treasury and would far outweigh the relocation costs involved.

No appropriation is requested for this program in 2008. GSA will solicit relocation proposals from agencies.

The expenses of Transportation Audit Contracts and Contract Administration activities are financed from overcharges collected from carriers on transportation bills paid by the Government as a result of post payment audits. In 1986, Public Law 99-627 granted GSA the authority to conduct prepayment audits and to delegate this authority to Federal agencies, upon their request; permanent authority to pay transportation audit contractors from carrier overcharges collected; and authority to transfer net overpayments collected to the Treasury. In 1998, with the passage of the Travel and Transportation Act, the prepayment audit of transportation bills became mandatory. The Act's changes were fully implemented in October 2000.

In 2006, $12 million of carrier overcharges were collected, and $1 million was returned to the U.S. Treasury, resulting in net receipts of $11 million.

The General Supply Fund (GSF) financed certain activities within the Federal Supply Service (FSS) and Federal Technology Service (FTS). The President's Budget reflects the merger of the GSF and the Information Technology Fund, establishing the Acquisition Services Fund (ASF). This consolidation brings together the combined operations of the two Services under one umbrella to finance the Federal Acquisition Service (FAS). As a result of the funds and operations consolidation, only 2006 financial and employment data for the GSF are reflected.

The former FSS, financed by the General Supply Fund, offered Federal agencies an extensive range of commercial services and more than 4 million commercial products. FSS was organized into five business lines: Global Supply; Commercial Acquisition; Personal Property Management; Travel and Transportation and Vehicle Acquisition and Leasing Services. FTS Professional Services business line provided assistance to Federal agencies in the areas of acquisition, project and financial management. These business lines have been merged into FAS and 2007 and 2008 financial and employment data are reflected in the ASF.

The Information Technology Fund (ITF) financed operations within FTS. The President's Budget reflects the merger of ITF and GSF to establish ASF. This consolidation brings together the combined operations of the two Services under one umbrella to finance FAS. As a result of the funds and operations consolidation, only 2006 financial and employment data for ITF are reflected.

The former FTS, financed by ITF, provided telecommunications and information technology solutions to Federal agencies on a reimbursable (fee for service) basis. FTS was organized into four business units: Long Distance; Regional Telecommunications; Regional IT Solutions; and National IT Solutions. These business units have been merged into FAS and 2007 and 2008 financial and employment data are reflected in ASF.

ASF merges the programs and activities formerly performed under two separate revolving funds, GSF and ITF, and finances the major activities of FAS. FAS was formed through the consolidation of FSS and FTS. The FAS is organized around four major business portfolios that deliver total solutions to customer agencies. These portfolios are Integrated Technology Services (ITS), Assisted Acquisition Services (AAS), General Supplies and Services (GSS), and Travel, Motor Vehicle and Card Services (TMVCS).

The ITS Portfolio provides customer agencies with information technology and telecommunications products and services provided by the former FSS and FTS organizations. Operations within this portfolio include; Multiple-Award Schedules (MAS) and Government-wide Acquisition Contracts (GWACs) for the information technology and telecommunication business units of the former FTS. ITS operations aggregate and leverage the Federal Government's buying power to obtain a wide range of IT and telecommunications products and services at a significant savings for customer agencies.

The AAS Portfolio provides customer agencies with a wide range of information technology services that were provided by the former FTS organization. Operations within this portfolio include the National and Regional IT Solutions business areas of FTS as well as the Professional Services business line. This portfolio's focus is on service delivery and assisting customers in making informed procurement decisions and serving as a center of excellence for the federal community. AAS complements the programs of the Integrated Technology Services portfolio by providing acquisition, technical, and project management services that assist agencies in acquiring and deploying information technology and professional services solutions.

The GSS Portfolio provides customer agencies a wide range of general products such as furniture, office supplies, and hardware products. This portfolio also provides personal property disposal services to customer agencies. These services were provided by the former FSS through three separate business lines. Consolidation of these functions into one portfolio will enable FAS to establish a supply chain mechanism that is appropriate for each product type. This refinement of the supply process will increase efficiency and improve customer service.

The TMVCS Portfolio provides customer agencies with a broad scope of services that include travel and relocation services, freight management, motor vehicle acquisition, fleet management, and charge card services. These services were provided by the former FSS through three separate business lines. All of the programs within the TMVCS portfolio are national programs that conduct highly leveraged buys for government-wide use. Additionally, all of these programs depend upon e-tools to interact with customers and carry out their missions; and charge cards are used to a large extent as a common acquisition channel within these programs.

In addition, GSA is proposing a new general provision that would amend existing law to permit the Administrator, after consulting with the Office of Management and Budget, to retain surplus funds generated by the operation of ASF in an amount not to exceed $40 million in any given fiscal year and use those funds for E-Gov initiatives.

The proposed Policy and Operations account combines GSA's Operating Expenses and Government-wide Policy accounts. The combined appropriation provides for Government-wide policy development, support, and evaluation functions associated with acquisition, real and personal property, vehicles, aircraft, information technology, transportation and travel management. The policy support activities funded under this account include the Federal Procurement Data Center, Regulatory Information Service Center, the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, and the Committee Management Secretariat.

This account also provides direct appropriations for a variety of operational activities which are not feasible or appropriate for a user fee arrangement. These include the Office of Citizen Services and Communications activities that promote increased citizen access to Government information; the personal property utilization and donation activities of the FAS; the real property utilization and disposal activities of the Public Buildings Service; the activities of the Civilian Board of Contract Appeals; and Management and Administration activities including administrative support of Congressional District and Senate State offices, support of Government-wide emergency response and recovery activities, and top-level agency-wide management and administration.

This appropriation provides agency-wide audit and investigative functions to identify and correct management and administrative deficiencies within GSA, which create conditions for existing or potential instances of fraud, waste and mismanagement. The audit function provides internal audit and contract audit services. Contract audits provide professional advice to GSA contracting officials on accounting and financial matters relative to the negotiation, award, administration, repricing, and settlement of contracts. Internal audits review and evaluate all facets of GSA operations and programs, test internal control systems, and develop information to improve operating efficiencies and enhance customer services. The investigative function provides for the detection and investigation of improper and illegal activities involving GSA programs, personnel, and operations. The 2008 Budget provides for up to $5 million in reimbursable authority for pre-award audits and surveys of MAS contracts and GWACs with the understanding that the Office of Inspector General (OIG) and FAS will work together to pilot alternative methods for reviewing contract-related activities. The pilot effort will help determine the most effective and efficient combination of management practices—including pre-award audits, pre-award surveys, and other activities—that the OIG and FAS may use to help ensure agencies obtain good prices and overall best value from acquisitions made through MAS and GSA's GWACs.

This program will support interagency electronic government or E-Gov initiatives, i.e., projects that will use the Internet or other electronic methods to provide individuals, businesses, and other government agencies with simpler and more timely access to Federal information, benefits, services, and business opportunities. The program would also further the Administration's implementation of the Government Paperwork Elimination Act (GPEA) of 1998, which calls upon agencies to provide the public with optional use and acceptance of electronic information, services, and signatures, when practicable. In addition to the $5 million requested for this appropriation, it is proposed that up to an additional $40 million may be made available for this activity from surplus revenues generated in the ASF. Proposals for funding will be required to meet capital planning guidelines and include adequate documentation to demonstrate a sound business case, attention to security and privacy, and a way to measure performance against planned results. In addition, a small portion of the money could be used for awards to those project management teams that delivered the best products to meet customer needs.

The Federal Citizen Information Center (FCIC) Fund provides for the efficient operation of FCIC's activities. Under the revolving fund, FCIC's activities are financed from monies deposited to the Fund, consisting of annual appropriations from the general funds of the Treasury, reimbursements from agencies, fees collected from the public, gifts for undertaking Federal information activities, and other income incident to FCIC activities.

Administrative expenses.—FCIC maintains close working relationships with more than 40 Federal departments and agencies to identify, develop, promote, and make Federal information easily accessible to the public. FCIC promotes public awareness of this information through a variety of channels. These channels include Internet websites located at USA.gov (the U.S. Government's official web portal), Pueblo.gsa.gov, ConsumerAction.gov, Kids.gov, and Info.gov. FCIC operates a toll-free National Contact Center (1-800-FED-INFO) for responding to citizen telephone and e-mail inquiries about the Federal Government. FCIC also publishes and distributes the quarterly Consumer Information Catalog, which lists Federal publications available to citizens through Pueblo, Colorado, and the Consumer Action Handbook, which provides information to citizens for resolving consumer problems. FCIC operates these information outlets as part of the USA Services E-Gov initiative, which seeks to make government more citizen-centric. Additionally, FCIC has awarded and operates a government-wide contracting vehicle (FirstContact) through which agencies can quickly and easily obtain contact center services to support their needs to communicate with the public. Administrative expenses are funded by the direct appropriation, by fees collected from agencies and the public, and by revenue received through FCIC's gift authority.

Publications distribution.—FCIC bills agencies and in turn reimburses the Government Printing Office for the costs of distributing free publications to the public.

This fund provides for management and administration, and centralized internal and external reimbursable administrative support functions.

Centralized administration.—Centralized administrative support services are funded through reimbursable funding from GSA’s benefiting accounts and from external sources including small agencies and commissions for services provided. Reimbursable services include administrative, information technology management, financial management, legal advice and services, equal employment opportunity services; budgetary policy and liaison activities with the Congress and Office of Management and Budget; and oversight of GSA contracting activities. This account also funds liaison with the Small Business Administration on minority business proposals and contracts to ensure that minority and small businesses receive a fair share of the agency’s business. This activity is also responsible for implementation and execution of the functions and duties under sections 8 and 15 of the Small Business Act (P.L. 95–507).

This fund also supports the Inspectors General Criminal Investigators Academy, which is funded through reimbursements from participating agencies.

The Panama Canal Act of 1979 established the Panama Canal Commission to operate and maintain the interoceanic waterway. Pursuant to Public Law 104–106, the Commission was a wholly-owned government corporation and was funded by a revolving fund. In accordance with the Panama Canal Treaty, the United States transferred ownership of the Canal to the Republic of Panama on December 31, 1999. Funds shown were for the settlement of remaining accident and contract claims against the Commission. Public Law 108–309, Sec. 121, amended the Panama Canal Act to terminate the Panama Canal Commission on October 1, 2004, and transferred the Panama Canal Revolving Fund to GSA.
