

Children and Families

As a mother, I have placed a special focus in my work in Congress on issues affecting children and families. In particular, I have worked to protect children from unsafe cribs, toys, and other consumer products, to provide uninsured children with access to health care that is affordable for their families, and to ensure that working families have access to quality child care.

Related Items

{mos_ri:chi_news}

More Children and Family Items