Public Comment for OMB regulations

Dear Public Comment for OMB regulations:

Commercial activities going out for competition is a bad joke. You lay off employees but keep the horrible management that continues to waste money trying to get the work done with a contractor that does the minimum required with the cheapest materials. With good inhouse management, a for profit contractor can't compete and still make his profit. The way the government does it you keep the bad management and make a contractor rich.

Sincerely,

Jim Green
