

The editor expresses her deep appreciation to the chapter authors whose original contributions served as the foundation for this important monograph. Their patience with the long and sometimes frustrating process of bringing this work to light is a testament to their commitment to the Office of Research on Women's Health (ORWH) and the National Cancer Institute (NCI) efforts to elucidate and address the unequal burden of cancer borne by women of color.

To accomplish the final steps in updating the chapters, staff from NCI's Division of Cancer Control and Population Sciences (DCCPS), through the DCCPS Health Disparities Research Coordinating Council and Health Disparities Working Group, reviewed sections of each chapter and updated the original materials with more recent data, where available. The editor would like to acknowledge and express her sincere gratitude to the following NCI staff members for their contributions: Drs. Nancy Breen, Martin Brown, Milton Eisner, Pebbles Fagan, Ben Hankey, Lynne Harlan, Sue Krebs-Smith, Dierdre Lawrence, Louise Masse, Helen Meissner, Barry Miller, Lynn Ries, and Deborah Winn. Finally, the editor would like to acknowledge and express her appreciation to Dr. Robert Croyle, Acting Director, DCCPS and Dr. Barbara Rimer, former Director, DCCPS. Their commitment to this area of research made it possible to complete this monograph.
