

Subject: non-animal testing

Date: Wednesday, June 6, 2007 12:05 PM

I just want you to know that a day doesn't go by in my life that I am not sickened to think that some of the drugs and products that I use has caused the death or suffering of an innocent, pain feeling animal. I know thousands of people who feel just as I do. In my heart I know that there is a better and kinder way and it is your hands to bring that into being. Please use this power that has been given to you to take this job extremely seriously and opt for a better world by eliminating so very much useless suffering and death. Please know that the day will come that we, who have allowed this to go on for so long will be looked upon by history as heartless and cruel beyond belief. There are clearly much better ways already available to end so much useless and repetitive testing. No matter how much money is made, remember that a living, feeling creature has suffered endlessly to the point that dying is a kindness. Year after tortuous year for some, a lifetime spent suffering--it must end.

Connie Mogull