

Subject: public comment on federal register attached below in full

Date: Tuesday, March 25, 2008 11:56 AM

i very much support stopping the use of animal tests for testing toxicity. they make no sense. they were started in 1500 a.d. when nothing else was available. they cause much abuse and pain to animals. the dna of animals is not human dna. it is time to move on to other tests, which are accurate. the one thing i am concerned about is that the new tests be accurate. so often these days we have corrupt drug companies pushing things for their own profit and not for accuracy or truth in science. if this agency can show the test is accurate, it makes much sense to go ahead and make that the test we use. we need to closely monitor comments from drug and chemical company profiteers trying to make the test work for their interests and not the good of the american people.

b.sachau