

AICC-Predictive Services

Monday August 18, 2008

Fire Weather Forecasts Have Ended for the Season

Use NWS Public Forecasts Available at...<http://www.arh.noaa.gov/>

Discussion:

Fire weather forecasts have ended for Alaska for the 2008 season. The persistent rainy pattern through much of July and into August has reduced fire danger to low levels. Spot forecasts and area forecasts are available from the National Weather Service year-round.

Please send an e-mail if you have any comments.

Thank You,

Sharon Alden and Heidi Strader

Sharon_Alden@blm.gov

Heidi_Strader@blm.gov