Calling All National Forest Employees and Retirees

Susanville, CA...The National Museum of Forest Service History is a private non-profit 501C.3 Corporation and is looking for members from the Forest Service employee community. Members can be retirees, current and past employees. Joining the National Museum of Forest Service History will help support the mission to better preserve the record and learn from the past to help build our future conservation history.

Larry Cabodi retired District Ranger, is looking for additional members especially retirees or past employees to help support the Museum. "It's an opportunity to share our history and the contributions we made" he stated. As a member you will be recognized as part of the U.S. Forest Service Team. Adding chapters to the history by using your knowledge and experience to further wise management of the nation's natural resources, and your contributions should be remembered. Share your story, records, and memorabilia of your experiences with the Museum for the archives. Contact Mr. Cabodi locally at 530-254-6336 or lcabodi@frontiernet.net, for more information on the membership drive or the Museum.

The Museum and headquarters are located in Missoula, Montana. For more information Contact them at:
