Conflict Resolution Assistance in Indian Country

The Community Relations Service (CRS) provides conflict resolution and prevention assistance on a wide variety of issues and disputes involving Native American tribes, communities, and Federal, State, and local officials on or near reservations. Examples include:

- ▶ Use of reservation lands for sanitary and hazardous waste landfill
- ▶ Tribal voting rights
- ▶ Leasing of tribal lands to non-tribal members for housing and business
- ▶ Cross-deputization of law enforcement between tribal and non-tribal law enforcement agencies
- ▶ Jurisdictional disputes between State and local government and tribes over gaming activities
- ▶ Employment of non-tribal members in tribal organizations and businesses
- ▶ Public demonstration activities
- ▶ Equal educational opportunities and fair disciplining of Native American students in public schools
- ▶ Return of Native American remains when burial grounds are discovered during land development
- ▶ Hunting and fishing rights under Native American treaties on and off reservation properties
- ▶ Hunting and fishing rights and seasons on reservation property for non-tribal members
- ▶ Disposition of Native American religious artifacts
- ▶ Use of Native American religious sites on Federal Park lands, including restriction of sites to Native Americans during ceremonies

CRS Customer Service Standards

Our goal is to provide sensitive and effective conflict prevention and resolution services. CRS will meet the following standards:

- We will clearly explain the process that CRS uses to address racial and ethnic conflicts and our role in that process.
- We will provide opportunities for all parties involved to contribute to and work toward a solution to the racial or ethnic conflict.
- If you are a participant in a CRS training session or conference, you will receive timely and useful information and materials that will assist you in preventing or minimizing racial and ethnic tensions.
- We will be prepared to respond to major racial or ethnic crisis situations within 24 hours from the time when your community notifies CRS or CRS becomes aware of the crisis.
- In non-crisis situations, we will contact you within three days of when your community notifies CRS to discuss your request or when CRS becomes aware of the situation.
