Congress Proposed Recovery Plan to Help Create Jobs and Conduct a Successful 2010 Census	Through its proposed Recovery Act plan, the U.S. Census Bureau plans to create jobs, strengthen the economy and conduct a successful 2010 Census. A successful census benefits communities, education, law enforcement and social services. In an effort to ensure accurate representation the Census Bureau will focus its partnership and outreach efforts to minority and hard-to-reach areas. 						Create Jobs and Conduct a Successful 2010
						Census
						The U.S. Census Bureau today submitted to Congress its proposed recovery plan to create jobs, strengthen the economy and conduct a successful 2010 Census. Under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, the Census Bureau was provided $1 billion.
						"The Census Bureau's proposed investments will improve our ability to conduct an accurate census and will create thousands of good-paying jobs," U.S. Commerce Secretary Gary Locke said. "A successful census is critical for ensuring that communities have proper representation and the resources needed for health care, law enforcement and education."
						Under the proposal, the Census Bureau will invest $250 million in partnership and outreach efforts to minority communities and hard-to-reach populations. This effort is intended to promote participation in the census, which will improve accuracy and facilitate enumeration operations in 2010.
						The remaining $750 million will be committed to support early 2010 Census operations that will reduce operational and programmatic risks at a critical stage of the census process.
						More than $300 billion in federal funds are distributed every year based on census results. This funding supports vital local services like health care, schools, law enforcement, transportation and social services.
						Some Census Recovery Plan highlights:
						Coverage Follow-Up Enhancement ($30 million):
						esticage i such ap Emilinement (430 milion).
						The Coverage Follow-Up program provides telephone interviewers to contact households that may have erred on the census form by indicating the wrong number of people living in their household. The recovery act investment will allow for the hiring of additional temporary telephone interviewers who will work from commercial call centers. The Recovery Act funding will complement Coverage Follow-Up funding that will be included in the President's 2010 Budget.
						Partnership Program Enhancement ($120 million):
						Enhancing the 2010 partnership program will increase partnerships in hard-to-count communities and expand efforts to reduce historical undercounts of communities least likely to be counted. The partnership program relies on trusted local voices to raise awareness of and trust in the census process. These funds will finance the hiring of additional partnership staff. The regional staff will be hired by July 2009 and conclude their work during the summer of 2010.
