Tax Credit Bonds for Schools	Allows States or local entities to issue tax credit bonds to fund school construction, rehabilitation, repair, or site acquisition. Tax credit bonds are bonds where the interest is paid by the federal government in the form of a tax credit and the principal is paid by the issuing entity. Half of the bond fund issuances will occur in FY 2009 and the remainder in FY 2010. The State will be allocated an amount proportional to ESEA section 1124. The State will then allocate approximately 40% of the bonding capacity to large LEAs (those LEAs in the state that are among the 100 largest LEAs in nation or are one of 25 designated by the US Secretary of Education) in the state pursuant to data from the most recent fiscal year.
