General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

Use Form 8840 to claim the closer connection to a foreign country or countries exception to the substantial presence test. The exception is described in Regulations section 301.7701(b)-2.

Note: You are not eligible for the closer connection exception if (1) you are present in the United States 183 days or more in calendar year 1993 or (2) you are a lawful permanent resident of the United States (i.e., green card holder).

Who Must File

If you, as an alien individual, meet the closer connection exception to the substantial presence test, you must file Form 8840 or a similar statement with the IRS to establish your claim that you are a nonresident of the United States by reason of that exception.

For more details on the substantial presence test and the closer connection exception, get Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.

Substantial Presence Test

You are considered a U.S. resident if you meet the substantial presence test for 1993. You meet this test if you were physically present in the United States for at least:

- 31 days during 1993, and
- 183 days during the period 1993, 1992, and 1991, counting all the days of physical presence in 1993 but only 1/3 the number of days of presence in 1992 and only 1/6 the number of days in 1991.

Days of Presence in the United States.—

Generally, you are treated as being present in the United States on any day that you are physically present in the country at any time during the day. However, you do not count the following days of presence in the United States for purposes of the substantial presence test:

1. Days you regularly commuted to work in the United States from a residence in Canada or Mexico.
2. Days you were in the United States for less than 24 hours when you were in transit between two places outside the United States.
3. Days you were unable to leave the United States because of a medical condition or medical problem that developed while you were in the United States.
4. Days you were an exempt individual.

In general, an exempt individual is a (a) foreign government-related individual, (b) teacher or trainee, (c) student, or (d) professional athlete competing in a charitable sports event. For more details, see Pub. 519.

Note: If you qualify to exclude days of presence in the United States because you were an exempt individual (other than a foreign-government related individual) or because of a medical condition or medical problem (see item 3 above), you must file Form 8843, Statement for Exempt Individuals and Individuals With a Medical Condition, or a similar statement.

Closer Connection Exception

Even though you would otherwise meet the substantial presence test, you will not be treated as a U.S. resident for 1993 if:

- You were present in the United States for fewer than 183 days during 1993.
- You establish that during 1993 you had a tax home in a foreign country, and
- You establish that during 1993 you had a closer connection to one foreign country in which you had a tax home than to the United States, unless you had a closer connection to two foreign countries.

Closer Connection To Two Foreign Countries

You may demonstrate that you have a closer connection to two foreign countries (but not more than two) if all five of the following apply:

1. You maintained a tax home as of January 1, 1993, in one foreign country.
2. You changed your tax home during 1993 to a second foreign country.
3. You continued to maintain your tax home in the second foreign country for the rest of 1993.
4. You had a closer connection to each foreign country than to the United States for the period during which you maintained a tax home in that foreign country.
5. You are subject to tax as a resident under the tax laws of either foreign country for all of 1993 or subject to tax as a resident in both foreign countries for the period during which you maintained a tax home in each foreign country.

Tax Home

Your tax home is your main place of business, employment, or post of duty regardless of where you maintain your family home. If you do not have a regular or main place of business because of the nature of your work, then your tax home is the place where you regularly live. If you do not fit either of these categories, you are considered an itinerant and your tax home is wherever you work.

Establishing A Closer Connection

You will be considered to have a closer connection to a foreign country than to the United States if you or the IRS establishes that you have maintained more significant contacts with the foreign country than with the United States.

How To File

Attach Form 8840 to your 1993 income tax return. If you do not have to file a return, send the form to the Internal Revenue Service Center, Philadelphia, PA 19255 by the due date (including extensions) for filing Form 1040NR. See the Instructions for Form 1040NR.

Penalty for Not Filing Form 8840 or a Similar Statement

If you do not timely file Form 8840 or a similar statement, you will not be eligible to claim the closer connection exception and may be treated as a U.S. resident.

You will not be penalized if you can show by clear and convincing evidence that you took reasonable actions to become aware of the filing requirements and significant steps to comply with those requirements.

Specific Instructions

Line 6.—If you answered "Yes" on line 6, do not complete this form. You are not eligible for the closer connection exception. However, you may qualify for nonresident status by reason of a treaty. See Pub. 519 for details. If so, file Form 8833, Treaty-Based Return Position Disclosure Under Section 6114 or 7701(b), or a similar statement, with your Form 1040NR.

If you do not qualify for nonresident status by reason of a treaty, file your U.S. income tax return using Form 1040.

Line 14.—A "permanent home" is a dwelling unit (whether a house owned or rented, an apartment, or a furnished room) that is available at all times, continuously and not solely for short stays.

Line 30.—For intangible assets, such as stocks and bonds, indicate the country of origin of the stock company or debtor. For example, if you own shares of a U.S. publicly traded corporation, the investment would be considered located in the United States, even though the shares of stock are stored in a safe deposit box in a foreign country.
