In reviewing the list of organizations who had submitted comments, it was clear to the group that many major organizations and those with more peripheral interests, such as labor unions or complimentary and alternative medicine providers, had yet to submit. The group encouraged NVPO to reach out to those groups for comment, either for a first time or to follow up. A list of organizations the group identified is below. It might be helpful to point to specific parts of the plan for each organization's comment.

The group encouraged early and ongoing dialogue between NVPO and professional organizations to ensure buy-in. Organizations will then be more likely to commit to activities of the implementation plan. It will be important to keep in mind each organization's decision-making process in this regard.
