

The Office of Foreign Assets Control Presents the

First Annual

International Trade Symposium

May 15, 2009

Washington, DC

The Office of Foreign Assets Control is sponsoring its first-ever International Trade Symposium designed to provide the international trade community with insight and perspective from top officials on compliance, enforcement and licensing issues related to U.S. export controls. This one-day event provides a unique opportunity to hear from and interact with not only the Office of Foreign Assets Control, but key personnel in the Census Bureau, Customs and Border Patrol, Bureau of Industry and Security, and the State Department's Office of Defense Trade Controls. Participants can expect to gain insight on agency enforcement perspectives, licensing policies and procedures, Agency site-visits and audits, OFAC's 2008 Enforcement Guidelines and more. In addition to the formal program, representatives from the Office of Foreign Assets Control will also be available to answer individual questions throughout the day. Don't miss out on this unique opportunity to participate in the Office of Foreign Assets Control's first ever event designed exclusively for the international trade professional!
