

The proposed transformation of the nation's nuclear weapons complex, particularly the Laboratory's proposed role, was the main item on the menu at a regional community leaders' breakfast meeting in Pojoaque, New Mexico. The keynote speaker discussed proposed transformation and the "sea change" it presents for the Laboratory, describing the prospective transformation as a "win-win situation" for the nation and the Laboratory.

Complex transformation focus of community leaders meeting