

slaves citizenship was utterly unjust. However I do not regret the decision because of the great uproar caused by the court's ruling. Awareness for slaves and the unspeakable conditions was raised and people gained the will to change society. More separation occurred between pro-slavery individuals and anti-slavery activists.

This then led to secession and the Civil War.

It is awe-inspiring to realize that one man such as you caused such changes. Your faith and courage instilled the same feelings in multitudes of people, which lead to a war and the uniting of a people.

An entire country took steps toward righteousness and justice. And for those steps, you were a catalyst.

I thank you for all you have done.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Campbell
