

Linear Discrimination Analysis

Linear discrimination analysis is to user to find out if two genes are separable for given category groups.

User may click button “Plot” for the selected genes with given category groups.

After that, user may click RUN with selected parameters. The linear discrimination takes parameters, a, b, and c. The quadratic discrimination takes parameters xx, x2 and y2.