This account funds the administrative expenses of SBA headquarters and field office operations. Appropriations for the administration of the disaster and business loan programs are merged with this account. The 2010 Budget provides increased funding for the continued development of a new loan management accounting system. The budget proposes $11.69 million for this activity, which will improve oversight of SBA's $89 billion portfolio of loans and loan guarantees. Additional funding is also requested for core agency activities, including information technology investments and human capital development. In addition, this account funds non-credit business assistance grant programs. The 2010 Budget includes a new initiative that would allow SBA to provide technical assistance through traditional or new grant partners. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 provided an additional $69 million within this account, available in 2009 and 2010, of which $24 million is for marketing, management, and technical assistance of the microloan program, $20 million is to automate loan processing, and $25 million to support the administration of SBA programs.

The 2010 Budget proposes $16.3 million in new budget authority and $1.0 million transferred from the Disaster Loans Program account for a total of $17.3 million for the Office of Inspector General (OIG). This appropriation provides funds for agencywide audit, investigative, and related functions to promote economy and efficiency in SBA operations and to prevent and detect waste, fraud, and abuse. In addition, the passage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 provided an additional $10 million, available from 2009 through 2013, for oversight and audit of SBA Recovery Act programs, grants, and projects.

SBA is authorized to issue bond guarantees to surety companies for construction, service, and supply contracts or work orders, and to reimburse these sureties up to 90 percent of the losses sustained if the contractor defaults. With the enactment of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA), SBA can provide bond guarantees for contracts up to $5 million (up from $2 million) and in some cases up to $10 million, through September 30th, 2010. SBA's guarantees provide an incentive for sureties to issue bonds to small contractors who could not otherwise secure them and compete in the contracting industry. In 2010, the Budget proposes a $1 billion program level that is anticipated to be sufficient to accommodate program demand. The passage of the ARRA also provided an additional $15 million in funding to cover potential loses for this program.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, as amended, this account records the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated and loan guarantees committed in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted from obligations or commitments in any year), as well as administrative expenses of the business loan program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

For 2010, the Budget proposes $236 million in new budget authority for the Business Loans Program account. This includes $153 million in administrative expenses funding, $80 million in credit subsidy for the Section 7(a) guaranteed loan program, and $3 million in credit subsidy for the direct Microloan program.

The Section 7(a) program provides general business credit assistance. The requested guaranteed loan program level for 2010 is $17.5 billion. The Section 504 Certified Development Company program is for long-term, fixed-rate financing and the requested guaranteed loan program level is $7.5 billion in 2010. The Small Business Investment Company (SBIC) program provides credit to support venture capital investments. The Budget proposes a program level of $3 billion for SBIC Debentures. Finally, the Budget proposes a $25 million program level for direct Microloans.

As part of the Secondary Market Guarantee (SMG) Program, SBA's fiscal agent pools the guaranteed portion of 7(a) loans and sells the securities to investors. This mechanism provides liquidity to lenders participating in the 7(a) loan program. For 2010, the Budget proposes a program level of $12 billion in such securities.

With the passage of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009, SBA was provided a total of $636 million for this account, to remain available until September 30, 2010. Of this amount, $6 million is available for the subsidy cost of additional lending under the Microloan program. In addition, $375 million was made available to temporarily eliminate or reduce fees for borrowers and lenders on 7(a) and 504 loans through 2010, or until the funds are exhausted. The ARRA also authorized 90 percent guarantees on most 7(a) loans. SBA estimates that this funding will support $8.7 billion in 7(a) loans and $3.6 billion in 504 loans, which will cover expected lending through December 31, 2009. For budget presentation purposes, the susbidy rates for 2009 and 2010 for the 7(a) and 504 programs reflect the blended rate for both ARRA and non-ARRA loans in each fiscal year.

The remaining $255 million in ARRA funds was made available to carry out a program to provide 100% guarantees on loans to viable small business concerns that have a qualifying small business loan and are experiencing immediate financial hardship.

As required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, as amended, this account records, for loans made pursuant to Section 7(b) of the Small Business Act, as amended, the subsidy costs associated with the direct loans obligated in 1992 and beyond (including modifications of direct loans or loan guarantees that resulted from obligations or commitments in any year), as well as administrative expenses of this program. The subsidy amounts are estimated on a present value basis; the administrative expenses are estimated on a cash basis.

Disaster loans made pursuant to Section 7(b) of the Small Business Act provide Federal assistance for non-farm, private sector disaster losses. Through the disaster assistance program, SBA helps homeowners, renters, businesses of all sizes, and non-profit organizations pay for the cost of replacing, rebuilding or repairing property damaged by disasters. The program is the only form of SBA assistance not limited to small businesses. The program provides subsidized loans of up to 30 years to borrowers who have incurred uninsured physical losses or economic injury as the result of a disaster.

In 2010, the Budget supports $1.1 billion in loans, the ten-year average for such loans, excluding outlying events. The Budget includes a legislative proposal (Section 521 of the SBA Administrative Provisions) to increase the maximum term for Business Credit Elsewhere loans from three to seven years. With this policy proposal, the subsidy rate is 10.73 percent.

In addition to the above, the Budget also requests subsidy and administrative expenses funding to support pilot programs to test two guaranteed disaster programs authorized by sections 12084 and 12085 of the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (Public Law 110-246).
