and DOMINIC DICICCO	:

The Securities and Exchange Commission (Commission) issued its Order Instituting Proceedings in this matter on December 5, 2000. On December 16, 2005, the Division of Enforcement (Division) filed a motion for summary disposition against Respondent Salvatore DiAmbrosio (DiAmbrosio) and a concurrent motion for leave to file a motion for summary disposition in excess of thirty-five pages. See 17 C.F.R. § 201.250(a), (c). The motion for summary disposition consists of a total of fifty-eight pages, including attachments: (1) a memorandum in support of the motion for summary disposition (sixteen pages); (2) the criminal indictment (twelve pages); (3) preliminary instructions to the jury (nineteen pages); (4) the jury verdict (one page); (5) the criminal judgment (seven pages); and (6) a declaration concerning prejudgment interest (three pages). DiAmbrosio did not file an opposition against either motion. See 17 C.F.R. § 201.154(b).

Since the majority of the pages in the fifty-eight-page motion for summary disposition are criminal documents relevant to this proceeding, the Division's request to exceed the thirty-five-page limit set forth in Rule 250(c) of the Commission's Rules of Practice is GRANTED.

SO ORDERED.
