

Lisa Lindsley is a managing director at the CtW Investment Group, which works with pension funds sponsored by unions affiliated with Change to Win to enhance long-term shareholder returns through active ownership. Change to Win is a federation of unions representing nearly 6 million members, and its affiliates participate in public pension funds with an estimated $1.7 trillion in assets and an estimated $217 billion in Taft-Hartley plans.

Lisa has 22 years experience in finance including nine years on Wall Street and eleven years in international microfinance. Lisa left her position as a Managing Director in the Latin American Corporate Finance Division of investment bank Bear Stearns in 1995 to enter the microfinance field, where she created a fund to invest in the equity of microfinance institutions. Prior to joining Bear Stearns, Lisa completed Irving Trust Company's credit training program and was Assistant Vice President in the Structured Trade Finance Division. Lisa earned her MBA in Finance and International Business from NYU. She is fluent in Spanish and Portuguese, and holds an undergraduate degree from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service.
