DOL announces release of $5.9 million in unemployment insurance modernization incentive funds to South Dakota	DOL made funds available to South Dakota to pay unemployment benefits, and, with the legislature's approval, for administering the state's unemployment insurance program or delivering employment services. The funds will help unemployed workers get by temporarily until they are re-trained or re-employed.	04/02/2009 05:00 PM	unemployment;insurance;incentive funds;South Dakota;training;modernization;UI	http://www.dol.gov/opa/media/press/eta/ETA20090356.htm	Press Release	WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Labor today certified for release $5,882,545 in unemployment insurance (UI) modernization incentive funds to the state of South Dakota. South Dakota qualified for the funds available under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (Recovery Act) by allowing workers to use their more recent earnings to qualify for benefits. South Dakota's approved application will be posted at the department's Employment and Training Administration Web site at http://www.doleta.gov/recovery. "South Dakota's UI program has been updated to better meet the needs of the 21st century labor force," said Secretary of Labor Hilda L. Solis. "The new legislation just enacted in South Dakota is particularly helpful to unemployed workers who have entered the workforce recently and otherwise might not qualify for UI benefits." The South Dakota Department of Labor can use the funds to pay unemployment benefits or, if appropriated by the legislature, for administering its unemployment insurance program or delivering employment services. "South Dakota is committed to helping people get back to work in these difficult economic times."
Sec. of Labor Hilda L. Solis issues statement on March 2009 employment numbers	Sec. Solis acknowledged that the loss of 663,000 additional jobs and the increase in the overall unemployment rate to 8.5 percent in March 2009 show that there is more work to be done to help struggling families. DOL continues to actively support workers during this difficult time by providing billions of dollars to increase the level of unemployment benefits and extend their duration. Funds are also being used to increase the opportunities for workers to receive training.	04/03/2009 10:00 AM	employment numbers;unemployment rate;unemployment benefits;training	http://www.dol.gov/opa/media/press/opa/OPA20090364.htm	Press Release	WASHINGTON — U.S. Secretary of Labor Hilda L. Solis issued the following statement on the March 2009 Employment Situation report released today: "Our economy lost another 663,000 jobs in March, bringing the total number of Americans that have lost their jobs to 5.1 million since this recession began last year. The overall unemployment rate has increased to 8.5 percent. "The Americans who have lost their jobs worry about paying the mortgage, keeping their health insurance and paying tuition. Families across our country are stressed and hurting, and they are at the center of the administration's efforts to provide real relief and opportunity for the future. "By enacting the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, we have taken an important step to save and create jobs while making important investments for future economic growth. The administration also has taken important steps to help families struggling to make their mortgage payments, and to get credit flowing for small businesses and families. "Today's numbers show that we have more work to do. "The Labor Department continues to actively support workers during this difficult time."
