National Historic Oregon Trail Interpretive Center Advisory Board to Meet

BAKER CITY, OREGON-The National Historic Oregon Trail Interpretive Center Advisory Board will meet May 15th from 09:00 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. (PST) at the National Historic Oregon Trail Interpretive Center (NHOTIC), Highway 86, Baker City, Oregon.

Agenda items for the half day meeting will include Marketing Plan Review, review of the Strategic Plan, a Center update, a tour of NHOTIC and any other matters that may reasonably come before the Advisory Board may also be addressed.

The public is welcome to attend all portions of the meeting as observers and may contribute during the public comment period at 11:05 a.m. on May 15th. Depending on the number of people wishing to comment comments may be limited in order to fulfill the meeting objectives. Those planning to verbally address the Advisory Board during the public comment period are asked to provide a written statement of their comments or presentation. Individuals with information for review by the Advisory Board members at the March meeting must forward all documents to Mark Wilkening at 100 Oregon Street, Vale, Oregon, 97918. All documents must be received by May 11th. Individuals who plan to attend and need special assistance, such as sign language interpretation or other reasonable accommodations, should contact the Vale District BLM as early as possible.

For more information on the National Historic Oregon Trail Interpretive Center Advisory Board or the upcoming meeting, contact Mark Wilkening, BLM Vale District Office, 100 Oregon Street, Vale, Oregon 97918, or call (541) 473-6218 weekdays between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. (MST)

-BLM-

The BLM manages more land – 258 million acres – than any other Federal agency. This land, known as the National System of Public Lands, is primarily located in 12 Western States, including Alaska. The Bureau, with a budget of about $1 billion, also administers 700 million acres of sub-surface mineral estate throughout the nation. The BLM's multiple-use mission is to sustain the health and productivity of the public lands for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. The Bureau accomplishes this by managing such activities as outdoor recreation, livestock grazing, mineral development, and energy production, and by conserving natural, historical, cultural, and other resources on public lands.
