Acting Director's Message

We remember the humble beginnings of the Migratory Bird Conservation Program as the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service celebrates the 75th anniversary of the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (commonly known as the Federal Duck Stamp), and the 50th anniversary of the Small Wetlands Program.

In the late 1800s and early 1900s, the decline of waterfowl was caused by overeager hunters and the commercial demand for meat and feathers. Periodic droughts caused the prairie potholes, northern bogs, and southern swamp waterfowl habitat to disappear. By the late 1920s, conservationists, hunters, and government officials worked together to create the Migratory Bird Conservation Act, which Congress passed in 1929. This landmark legislation authorized our predecessor bureau, the Bureau of Biological Survey, to acquire and permanently protect wetlands for waterfowl. It also created the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, comprised of Federal and State officials, to consider and approve proposals for land acquisition.

Although the Migratory Bird Conservation Act created the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission and gave us the authority to create migratory bird refuges, it did not provide a permanent source of acquisition funding. This problem was addressed in the 1930s when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Jay N. "Ding" Darling, a nationally known wildlife conservationist and visionary political cartoonist, to serve as the Chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey. One of Darling's lasting and visionary legacies was helping to create a stamp to be purchased by all waterfowl hunters that would generate funds to pay for the acquisition of waterfowl habitat. In 1934, Congress passed the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act, which required all hunters older than 16 to purchase and possess a Federal Duck Stamp while hunting waterfowl. Revenues from Duck Stamp sales are now deposited in the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund, along with import duties collected on arms and ammunition, receipts from permits for rights-of-way across refuge lands, and any Wetlands Loan Act appropriations.

In 1958, Congress authorized the Secretary of the Interior to use Duck Stamp revenues to acquire waterfowl production areas, small natural wetlands, and associated uplands in the Prairie Pothole Region of the United States through our Small Wetlands Program. The wetlands and grasslands in this glacially-created landscape are among the most at risk habitats in the country. While the Region accounts for just 10 percent of North American waterfowl breeding habitat, it produces nearly half of the continent's total ducks. The acquired lands through the small wetlands project also help connect people with nature by offering excellent places for bird watching, hunting, photography, and environmental education.

Since 1934, the Service has spent over one billion Migratory Bird Conservation Fund dollars to permanently protect over five million acres of important waterfowl habitat, including nearly three million acres of waterfowl production areas in the Prairie Pothole Region of the continental

United States. The one billionth dollar milestone was reached this fiscal year, with the acquisition of a 133-acre permanent grassland easement in south-central South Dakota that will provide critical breeding and nesting habitat for a variety of waterfowl and migratory birds.

The Federal Duck Stamp Program and Migratory Bird Conservation Program have become two of the most popular and successful conservation programs ever created. These five million acres include over 30 percent of National Wildlife Refuge System lands and interests in lands in the lower 48 United States. In addition to providing habitats for migratory birds and waterfowl, these protected wetlands help dissipate storm runoff, purify water supplies, and store flood water. Finally, many other birds, mammals, fish, reptiles, amphibians, and plants have also benefited from these programs.

Conservation programs like these need the support of people who understand and connect with our natural world, people who understand the importance of our wildlife resources and take action. What can you do? Buy a Federal Duck Stamp. Tell people how important Federal Duck Stamps are to ensuring healthy populations of all migratory birds and other wildlife. For more information, visit our Federal Duck Stamp Web site, www.fws.gov/duckstamps/ or our Small Wetlands Program Web site at www.fws.gov/refuges/smallwetlands/.

Significant Land Acquisition Accomplishments of Fiscal Year 2008

The Fish and Wildlife Service acquired fee title or other interest in more than 111,000 acres in Fiscal Year 2008. The Service added 86 acres to the Windom Wetland Management District, making Mower County, Minnesota, the 206th county with a Waterfowl Production Area (WPA). The Service re-named the Cottonwood WPA in Stutsman, North Dakota, the Harold W. Benson Memorial WPA, to honor the late Harold Benson, one of the Small Wetlands Program pioneers.

Alaska Region

The Conservation Fund donated 12,586 acres to the Alaska Peninsula National Wildlife Refuge, to protect prime habitat for migratory birds, including black brant, emperor geese, the threatened Steller's Eider, and five species of Pacific salmon.

The Service purchased two tracts totaling 240 acres in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, one located on the banks of Cane Creek, and the other on the banks of Timber Lake, which supports a variety of fish species, including lake trout, Arctic grayling, and whitefish. Both tracts provide important habitat for grizzly bears, moose, caribou, wolves, beavers, martens, and wolverines.

The Service acquired three tracts totaling 350 acres in the Togiak National Wildlife Refuge. Located on the Ongivinuk River and Ongivinuk Lake in a designated Wilderness Area, two tracts totaling 190 acres were acquired through The Conservation Fund as a donation. They contain essential habitat for all five species of Alaska salmon, rainbow trout, Dolly Varden, brown bear, moose, and caribou. Located on Chagvan Bay, the third tract provides valuable habitat for more than 30 species of migratory birds.

Pacific Region

The Inland Northwest Land Trust donated 238 acres to the Service for the Turnbull National Wildlife Refuge in Spokane County, Washington. Ducks Unlimited acquired the property with NAWCA funds and transferred ownership to the Trust. Located in the Palouse Basin of channel scablands, the property includes 100 acres of seasonally flooded wetland meadows and 78 acres of permanently flooded depressional wetlands.

The Service acquired a 79-acre tract, including an energy-efficient building incorporating both active and passive solar design, near Lakeview, Oregon, to serve as the new headquarters for the Sheldon-Hart Mountain National Wildlife Refuge Complex.

California-Nevada Region

The Service acquired 1,460 acre-feet of water within the Newlands Reclamation Project of Nevada's Lahontan Valley, as part of the water rights acquisition program at Stillwater National Wildlife Refuge. The program involves purchases of existing irrigation rights from willing sellers. With the Nevada Department of Wildlife, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Bureau of Reclamation, and others as partners, the Service has acquired about 38,000 acre-feet of water—half of what is needed to reach the goal of permanently maintaining 25,000 acres of wetlands in the Lahontan Valley.

The Service acquired 1,184 acres of conservation easements on three tracts at Grasslands Wildlife Management Area in California. Two tracts on the west side provide 477 acres of optimum wintering habitat for wetland-dependent migratory waterfowl and water birds. Shallowly flooded season wetland habitat provides resting and feeding sites for several thousand pintail, teal, gadwall, mallards, wigeon, and shoveler between October and April. The third tract, on the east side, contains several habitat types needed by migratory waterfowl: permanent, seasonal, and riparian forested wetlands; wetland-associated uplands; and wildlife food plots, and is heavily used by Arctic nesting geese and cranes.

Mountain-Prairie Region

The Murphy Creek Ranch represents the single largest remaining inholding within the Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge, located in the Centennial Valley of southwestern Montana. The Nature Conservancy acquired the Ranch in 2007, and the Service has been strategically acquiring portions of the property, including important water rights to ensure future water supplies for the Red Rock Lakes wetland complex. The property provides important breeding habitat for 21 species of waterfowl and 35 species of other wetland-dependent birds.

The Refuge and the surrounding Valley support the highest density of breeding Trumpeter Swans in the tri-state flock (Idaho, Montana, Wyoming) of the Rocky Mountain population. Integral to Trumpeter Swan restoration efforts throughout the lower 48 states, this flock produces more cygnets than any other single area in the western United States.

Southwest Region

The Service acquired 1,598 acres from The Conservation Fund for the Trinity River National Wildlife Refuge in Texas. The property is composed of bottomland hardwood forests, bayous, and cypress/tupelo habitat that support migratory and resident wildlife, fish, and plants, and also provide extremely valuable wintering, migration, and breeding habitat for migratory birds.

Conservation Capital Land Acquisition, Ltd, donated 776 acres to the Service for the Trinity River National Wildlife Refuge in Texas. The property lies adjacent to existing Refuge land, connects the largest contiguous area of the Refuge, and protects important bottomland hardwood and associated habitats for migrating, wintering, and breeding waterfowl.

The Service purchased perpetual conservation easements on three tracts totaling 3,853 acres, to protect native grassland and critical water resources at the Leslie Canyon National Wildlife Refuge in Arizona. The Refuge protects the endangered Yaqui Chub and Yaqui Topminnow and other rare species, including the endangered Lesser Long-Nosed Bat, the endangered Huachuca Water Umbel, and one of the last breeding populations of the Chiricahua Leopard Frog.

Great Lakes-Big Rivers Region

The Service received the donation of an 857-acre easement for the Mahnomen County Waterfowl Production Area in Minnesota, as well as other donations totaling approximately 1,753 acres, including 283 fee acres from the American Land Conservancy, for the Middle Mississippi River National Wildlife Refuge; 140 fee acres from the American Land Conservancy for the Cypress Creek National Wildlife Refuge; 128 easement acres from the Wetlands America Trust, Inc., for the Otter Tail County Waterfowl Production Area in Minnesota; and 126 fee acres from Monroe County, Michigan, for the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge.

By Public Land Order, the Bureau of Land Management transferred Plum and Pilot Islands, totaling 329 acres of public domain lands, for inclusion in the Green Bay National Wildlife Refuge in Wisconsin. The islands protect native bird and endangered species habitat in the Great Lakes Basin Ecosystem.

Southeast Region

The Service is working with The Trust for Public Land to acquire and reforest approximately 11,000 acres at Tensas River National Wildlife Refuge in Louisiana for a multi-year land acquisition/carbon sequestration project. The property lies between two non-contiguous forested blocks of approximately 65,000 acres. The Service acquired 1,452 acres in fiscal year 2008 and hopes to complete acquisition of the entire 11,000 acres as funds become available.

Carbon partnerships enable the Service to reforest refuge lands and to manage the restored property. Carbon partners have included Entergy Services, Inc.; The Detroit Edison Company; Carbonfund.org; and TPL.

The Nature Conservancy donated 786 acres in Levy County, Florida, for the Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge. The property abuts the Suwannee River on the westerly side and forms the northern boundary of the Refuge; it is also contiguous to existing Refuge lands on the easterly and southerly sides. The habitat consists of mixed pine forest, with palmetto understory and bottomland hardwood swamp leading to the river, and is used by eastern indigo snakes, gopher tortoises, gopher frogs, American swallow-tailed kites, and many migratory birds.

Northeast Region

In partnership with The Trust for Public Land, the Service purchased 82 acres of open space for the Silvio O. Conte National Fish and Wildlife Refuge in Hadley, Massachusetts. With several thousand feet of frontage along the Fort River, the property offers important habitat for fish; the Federally-listed endangered dwarf wedge mussel; significant populations of grassland birds; several state-protected turtles; and rare species such as the bridle shiner dragonfly.

The Service added more than 91 acres along the Assabet River in Stow, Massachusetts, including 13 parcels of marsh and swamp from White Pond Road to Gleasondale, to the Refuge. Some parcels front Track Road, which is part of the Assabet River Rail Trail; others are accessible only from the river. Rich in wildlife activity, these parcels are the Service's first acres along the Assabet River.

Through another partnership with The Trust for Public Land, the Service acquired a conservation easement on 90 acres along the Rappahannock River for the Rappahannock River Valley National Wildlife Refuge in Virginia. The property is a mix of tidal marsh, freshwater wetlands, upland forest, and open fields, and lies in the Jones Point Marshes focus area. The acquisition is the second recent success story for the Refuge; the Service also purchased 175 acres of marshland from The Conservation Fund.

The Service completed a land exchange in Errol, New Hampshire, in which the Service conveyed 83 acres of the John Hay National Wildlife Refuge to the Audubon Society of New Hampshire, and acquired 727 acres from The Trust for Public Land for addition to the Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge. The acquired acres include the headwaters of the Mollidgewock Brook, diverse wetlands, and important habitat for migratory birds.

Report Definitions

The following definitions are used solely for administrative purposes in grouping land use categories for this report and do not necessarily reflect the definitions found in 50 CFR 25.12.

Administrative Site: Land used to support administrative programs, such as maintenance facilities or offices, and off-site visitor centers (Table 6).

Coordination Area: Any area administered as part of the National Wildlife Refuge System and managed by the state under cooperative agreements between the Service and a state fish and wildlife agency (Table 5).

Migratory Waterfowl Refuge on a Federal Water Resource Project: Federal land managed by the Service as part of the National Wildlife Refuge System to mitigate the damage associated with a federal water resource project for the benefit of migrating waterfowl (and other wildlife) under the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act (Table 9).

National Fish Hatchery: Facility where fish are raised. Hatchery objectives are to replenish depleted stocks, to mitigate federal water projects, to assist with the management of fishery resources on federal (primarily Service) and Indian lands, and to enhance recreational fisheries (Table 7).

National Wildlife Refuge: Any area of the National Wildlife Refuge System, except coordination areas and waterfowl production areas (Table 3).

Waterfowl Production Area: Any wetland or pothole area acquired pursuant to the Migratory Bird Conservation Act or other statutory authority and administered as part of the National Wildlife Refuge System and identified by county designation (Table 4).

Wilderness Area: Service land designated by Congress to be managed as a unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System, in accordance with the terms of the Wilderness Act of 1964. All Service wilderness areas occur within National Wildlife Refuges, with the exception of Mount Massive Wilderness Area which is located at the Leadville National Fish Hatchery (Table 8).

Footnotes for Table 3

The Fish and Wildlife Service administers two National Monuments. Papahānaumokuākea Marine National Monument encompasses more than 89,467,000 acres and includes the Midway Atoll National Wildlife Refuge and Hawaiian Islands National Wildlife Refuge. The Monument is administered jointly by three co-trustees — the Department of the Interior (through the Fish and Wildlife Service), the Department of Commerce, and the State of Hawai'i. Co-Trustee agencies, in cooperation with the Office of Hawaiian Affairs, manage the Monument through the Monument Management Board.

* - County where WPA program currently exists and new FSA interests are acquired.

** - Summary by county of all other acres, both fee and less than fee, acquired from the FSA, not reported within an existing project.

Summary may contain one or more ownerships. FSA county summary acres are included in the total acres for each state but are not separate units in the Waterfowl Production Area totals.

WMD - Wetlands Management District

FSA - Farm Service Agency (formerly Farmers Home Administration), Department of Agriculture

NOTE - The cost amount shown in the "Agreement/Easement or Lease" column reflects the dollars spent in the particular county, but acres could have been divested. Acres reported with cost could include donated acres where there is no cost.

Notes

In addition to the changes noted in the accomplishments section and those noted below, the figures in our tables may show some changes from previous annual reports. For example, decreases in acreage figures may reflect expired leases, real property disposals made in land exchanges, or property transfers. An increase or decrease may be noted after new property surveys are completed or when additional information is entered into the database after the data has been transmitted from the Regions for publication. Other changes result from corrections that are made when errors are found in the historical data previously entered into the database systems or when information was not previously entered into the database.

Table 2A: As was the case last year, Table 2A shows individual refuge acquisitions. Negative acreage will appear in Table 2A when we dispose of or transfer more acres than we acquire during the fiscal year.

Tables 3 and 4: The report summarizes Farm Service Agency (formerly Farmers Home Administration), Department of Agriculture, units in Table 3 by state and in Table 4 by state and county. These entries, identified as “FSA Interest” consist of lands or interests in lands acquired from the Farm Service Agency that are not located within existing project boundaries. We include FSA units in state and county acreage totals, but do not count them as separate units.

Table 4: The Waterfowl Production Areas are units of the National Wildlife Refuge System established under the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act. For purposes of this report, the acreage of the WPAs are rolled up by county in each state, and the total number of NWRS Waterfowl Production Area units are shown as the total number of approved counties with WPA acres.

Table 7: The Ouray hatchery in Utah is counted as a National Fish Hatchery, but it is located on the Ouray National Wildlife Refuge, and the acreage is included in Table 3 rather than Table 7. The Hagerman National Fish Hatchery in Idaho is managed by the Service, but the remainder of the land is managed by the state and appears in Table 5 as the Hagerman Coordination Area.
