PARTNER
DELOITTE & TOUCHE LLP
GLOBAL OFFERINGS SERVICES GROUP

EXPERIENCE

Joel Osness has more than 24 years of experience in public accounting, providing assurance and advisory services to multinational SEC-registered companies. He is the Partner-in-Charge of Deloitte's Global Offerings Services Group. This New York-based Group consists of more than 120 Partners and high-level staff located around the world with extensive experience in guiding Deloitte's international clients through initial public offerings in the United States, as well as through non-public US debt and equity offering transactions. For the last 13 years, Joel has worked extensively with non-US companies in a variety of industries in several countries, providing advice on the application of US Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, International Financial Reporting Standards and the SEC's regulations in connection with US Capital markets transactions. This includes assistance with the conversion of financial statements to a US-required format, consultation as to the documents needed to comply with the SEC's complex filing requirements, and collaborating with attorneys and investment bankers in the preparation of offering prospectuses. Joel is one of Deloitte's representatives on the International Practices Task Force of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is a frequent speaker on the subject of raising capital in the US markets.
