

I support proposed rules re descriptive Video

Having information on screen properly described in an appropriate audio format will mean a major improvement in quality of life for many people.