PREFACE

Jefferson National Expansion Memorial was authorized by Congress as "... a permanent memorial to the men who made possible the territorial expansion of the United States, particularly President Thomas Jefferson and his aids, Livingston and Monroe, who negotiated the Louisiana Purchase, and the hardy hunters, trappers, frontiersmen, and pioneers and others who contributed to the territorial expansion and development of the United States of America." The park was established by Executive Order 7253, signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt on December 21, 1935.

Jefferson National Expansion Memorial collects and preserves archival materials that document the exploration and settlement of the American West, and particularly the role of St. Louis as the Gateway to the West. These manuscripts and records are collected as an extension of the three dimensional holdings of Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, further explaining and describing the artifact collections, and perhaps supplanting them when objects are lacking or unavailable. The human dimensions of the park's holdings are strengthened through the acquisition of personal correspondence, diaries, journals, sketchbooks, and photograph albums. These materials, along with records that document the administrative history of the park, comprise valuable and irreplaceable reference sources for historians and other scholars.

Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Archives was formally organized in 1988 to insure the protection of these unique collections, and to make them available to the public. A small reference library is also available, containing nearly 4000 titles on westward expansion, Native Americans, St. Louis history, and the National Park Service. The Library and Archives are available by appointment only. Researchers wishing to visit the Library and Archives are invited to call or write to make the necessary arrangements.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Archives is thankful for the financial support provided by the Jefferson National Parks Association. The preservation and processing of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Research Reports and other JNEM archival resources would not have been possible without the generous financial contributions made by the Association.

The Archives would also like to thank archives volunteer Janet S. Ayres, who processed this collection.

INTRODUCTION TO THE COLLECTION

The Secretary of the Interior, through the National Park Service, was instructed by Executive Order of the President on December 21, 1935, to acquire 38 city blocks within the City of St. Louis at and near the site of Old St. Louis and to develop and preserve it as Jefferson National Expansion Memorial under the terms of the Historic Buildings and Sites Act of August 21, 1935. Under the terms of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior, through the National Park Service, was given the power to, and instructed to, secure and preserve drawings, photographs, and other data of historic and archeological sites and buildings. He was further instructed to make a survey of the historic and archaeological sites and buildings and to make necessary investigations relating to particular sites and buildings to obtain accurate information concerning them.

This collection began as a series of reports generated about those sites and buildings. It now consists of more than 250 reports that deal with a wide variety of subjects ranging from information about specific buildings to biographies of historical personalities; from the study of architecture in St. Louis to methods used to construct sod houses; from projections of cost estimates for the entire JNEM to the role of Native Americans in westward expansion; from weather data to a study of plant life to be considered for inclusion in the Memorial area. The subjects are as diverse as a project of the magnitude of building the memorial would indicate.

These reports were written by dozens of people and range in length from one or two pages to hundreds of pages. The reports were written during the 1930's through the 1990's. Over 350 photographs, mostly in the form of photostatic copies, are sprinkled throughout the collection. Several reports include maps, scale drawings, or other visual materials pertinent to the report's subject matter. Numbered reports were assigned numbers arbitrarily and are arranged numerically. Unnumbered reports are arranged alphabetically. Capitalization is inconsistent throughout the various reports and the inconsistencies in this finding aid reflect the usage in the original documents.

Information obtained from this collection must be properly cited, whether used in publication or in other formats. A citation suggested for this collection is:

Researchers are advised that before records, photographs, and any other unpublished materials from this collection can be published or exhibited, permission from the National Park Service must be obtained in writing.

ARRANGEMENT

Series 1. Numbered Research Reports

This series contains research reports written by authors, mostly park employees, on various topics relating to westward expansion, the city of St. Louis, and Jefferson National Expansion Memorial. These reports are arranged numerically by report number.

Series 2. Unnumbered Research Reports

These reports deal with a variety of subjects concerning St. Louis and the West including: Civil War battles, American art, means of transport, and many others. The staff of Jefferson National Expansion Memorial wrote most of the reports; but some came from writers outside the park. The reports are dated from 1935 to 1961. These reports never received a number and are arranged alphabetically.

Series 3. Historian's Reports

This series consists of reports on various topics of historical interest concerning St. Louis and the West. Michael Capps, park historian from 1988-1989, wrote all of the reports except for the Background Paper on the Old Rock House, which was the work of former park archivist Harry Heiss. Some of the Museum Gazettes produced by Jefferson National Expansion Memorial were based on these reports.
