

Information on Articles Reviewed

- (1) Describes limited availability of Uzi Model B sporter with thumbhole stock.
- (2) Describes rifle and makes political statement concerning 1989 ban.
- (3) Describes Chinese copy of Uzi with thumbhole stock.
- (4) Quality sporting firearms from Russia.
- (5) Short descriptions of rifles and shotguns available. Lead-in paragraph mentions hunting. Does not specifically recommend any of the listed weapons for hunting.
- (6) Geared to retail gun dealers, provides list of available products. States L1A1 Sporter is pinpoint accurate and powerful enough for most North American big game hunting.
- (7) Discusses the use of the rifle for hunting bear, sheep, and coyotes. Describes accuracy and ruggedness. NOTE: The rifle is a pre-1989 ban assault rifle.
- (8) Deals primarily with performance of the cartridge. Makes statement that AK 47-type rifle is adequate for deer hunting at woods ranges.
- (9) Discusses gun ownership in the United States. Highlighted text (not by writers) includes the National Survey of Private Ownership of Firearms that was conducted by Chilton Research Services of Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania during November and December 1994: 70 million rifles are privately held, including 28 million semiautomatics.
- (10) Discusses pre-1989 ban configuration. Describes use in hunting, and makes the statement that "in the appropriate calibers, the military style autoloaders can indeed make excellent rifles, and that their ugly configuration probably gives them better handling qualities than more conventional sporters as the military discovered a long time ago."
- (15) Not article - letter from Editor of Gun World magazine discussing "sport" and various competitions. Note: Attached submitted by Century Arms.
- (16) Letter addressed to "To Whom It May Concern" indicating HK91 (not mentioned but illustrated in photos) is suitable for hunting and accurate enough for competition. Note: Submitted by Century Arms.
- (17) Describes a competition developed to test a hunter's skill. Does not mention any of the rifles at issue.
- (18) Not on point - deals with AR 15.
- (19) Describes function, makes political statement.
- (20) Discusses function and disassembly of rifle.
- (21) Not on point - deals with AR 15 rifle.

- (22) Discusses competition started to show sporting use of rifles banned for sale in California. Unknown if weapons in study were banned in California in 1990.
- (23) Not on point - deals with national matches.
- (24) Not on point - deals with various surplus military rifles.
- (25) Deals with 7.62x39mm ammunition as suitable for deer hunting and mentions the use in SKS rifles, which is a military style semiautomatic but not a part of the study.
- (26) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (27) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (28) Not on point - deals with AR15 rifles in competition.
- (29) Not on point - deals with the SKS rifle.
- (30) Not on point - deals with national matches.
- (31) Not on point - deals with national matches.
- (32) Not on point - deals with national matches.
- (33) Not on point - deals with national matches at Camp Perry.
- (34) Not on point - deals with national matches at Camp Perry.
- (35) Not on point - deals with 1989 national matches at Camp Perry.
- (36) Not on point - deals with Browning BAR sporting semiautomatic rifles.
- (38) Not on point - deals with AR15, mentions rifle in caliber 7.62 x 39.
- (39) Not on point - deals with bullet types.
- (40) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (41) Discusses tracking in snow. Rifles mentioned do not include any rifles in study.
- (42) Deals with deer hunting in general.
- (43) Deals with rifles for varmint hunting. Does not mention rifles in study.
- (44) Not on point - deals with hunting pronghorn antelope.
- (45) Deals with various deer rifles.
- (46) Not on point - deals with two Browning rifles' recoil reducing system.
- (47) Not on point - deals with bolt-action rifles.
- (48) Not on point - deals with ammunition.

- (49) Deals with modifications to AR15 trigger for target shooting.
- (50) Not on point - deals with M1 Garand as a target rifle.
- (51) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (52) Deals with impact of banning semiautomatic rifles would have on competitors at Camp Perry.
- (53) Deals with economic impact in areas near Camp Perry if semiautomatic rifles banned. Reprint from Akron Beacon Journal.
- (54) Deals with training new competitive shooters - mentions sporting use of assault rifles, i.e., AR15.
- (55) Not on point - article about Nelson Shew.
- (56) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (57) Not on point - deals with shooting the AR15.
- (58) Not on point - article about AR15 as target rifle.
- (59) Not on point - article about well known competitive shooter.
- (67) Not on point - deals with reloading.
- (68) Discusses semiautomatic versions of M14.
- (69) Discusses gas operation.
- (70) Discusses right adjustment on M1 and M1A rifles.
- (71) Discusses M1A and AR15-type rifles modified to remove them from assault weapon definition, and their use in competition.
- (72) Deals with AR15 type rifle.
- (73) Not on point - deals with AR15.
- (74) Not on point - deals with target rifle based on AR15/M16.
- (75) Not on point - deals with SKS rifle.
- (76) Not on point - deals with reloading 7.62x39mm cartridge.
- (77) Not on point - deals with reloading. Mentions 7.62x39mm.
- (78) Not on point - deals with ammunition performance.
- (79) Deals with .223 Remington caliber ammunition as a hunting cartridge.
- (80) Describes M1A (semiautomatic copy of M14) as a target rifle.
- (81) Not on point - deals with bullet design.
- (82) Not on point - deals with ammunition performance.