FCC RELEASES CARRIER LOCATOR REPORT

Washington D.C. -- The FCC has released its annual Carrier Locator: Interstate Service Providers which lists 4,144 telecommunications carriers that provide interstate services. The report provides an address and telephone number for each carrier and identifies whether the carrier provided local; wireless; payphone; operator and card; or other toll services. The report can be used by customers and other carriers to identify and locate sources of telecommunications service, by equipment vendors to identify potential customers, and by anyone seeking to locate a specific carrier.

Information contained in this report was taken from TRS Fund Worksheets filed by interstate service providers. The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 requires all providers of interstate telecommunications service to share in the costs of financing interstate telecommunications relay services (TRS). Persons with hearing or speech disabilities use TRS to use the telephone. Annually, each carrier files a TRS Fund Worksheet, which is used to calculate the carrier's contribution to the TRS Fund.

The Carrier Locator report is prepared by the Common Carrier Bureau's Industry Analysis Division. The report is available for reference in the FCC's Reference Information Center, Courtyard Level, 445 12th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20554. Copies may be purchased by calling International Transcription Services, Inc. (ITS) at (202) 857-3800. The report, including the spreadsheets containing the report's statistical tables and the figures, can be downloaded [file name: LOCAT99.PDF or LOCAT99.ZIP] from the FCC-State Link internet site at (<http://www.fcc.gov/ccb/stats>) on the World Wide Web.

Carrier Locator: Interstate Service Providers

This report lists 4,144 companies that provided interstate telecommunications service as of December 31, 1998. For each carrier, this report shows an address, a telephone number and the types of services that the carrier provided. This report is used by customers and other carriers to identify and locate sources of telecommunications service, by equipment vendors to identify potential customers, and by the FCC for various regulatory purposes.

This report was compiled using information from TRS Fund Worksheets filed by carriers. The worksheets were due on April 26, 1999, but some carriers filed late. The TRS Fund administrator compiles information from the Worksheets and provides a database to the Commission. The last version of the database was provided in October 1999 and contains information for all carriers that filed through September. Carriers that filed after that time or that filed incomplete information may not be shown in the tables.

The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) requires all providers of interstate telecommunications service to share in the costs of financing interstate telecommunications relay services (TRS). People with hearing or speech impairments use TRS in order to use the telephone. The FCC has established a TRS fund and directed the National Exchange Carrier Association (NECA) to serve as administrator. Each carrier that provides interstate service must file an annual TRS Fund Worksheet with the Administrator. The worksheet summarizes a carrier's revenues and is used to calculate its contribution to the TRS Fund.

This publication should include all carriers that provided interstate telecommunications services in 1998 unless they merged or went out of business before April 26, 1999. Local telephone companies file TRS worksheets because they provide interstate access services. Similarly, competitive access providers, pay telephone providers, and cellular telephone companies derive revenue from interstate services and accordingly are required to file. Private carriers and shared-tenant service providers are not required to file unless they provide some common carrier services.

In the TRS Fund Worksheet, each carrier is asked to select a single category that best describes its carrier operations even though it may provide more than one type of service. Figure 1 lists the categories available on the form and shows the number of carriers that selected each category as best describing its carrier operations. Figure 2 shows the number of carriers that reported revenue for each of 5 broad service categories. As many carriers report revenue in more than one service category, the numbers in Figure 2 sum to more than the number of filing carriers.

* The TRS worksheet has a single category for payphone, OSP and calling card revenue. The payphone count represents carriers that identified themselves as payphone providers. 893 additional carriers reported revenue in the combined category.

Table 1 lists current interstate service providers, the mailing address of their corporate headquarters, a telephone number that can be used for customer inquiries, their carrier type, and indicates whether their Worksheets contained local service, mobile service, pay telephone, operator service, or other toll service revenue. A handful of carriers do not show revenue types. These carriers contributed to the TRS fund but did not have revenue in 1998. The TRS rules require the administrator to keep confidential all revenue information contained in the TRS Worksheets. Many carriers have also requested that the reported revenue amounts be accorded proprietary treatment. Consequently, the amount of revenue reported by each carrier for 1998 is not published.

Each legal entity that provides interstate telecommunications service must file a separate TRS Worksheet. Thus, eighty-five GTE subsidiaries and affiliates are listed in Table 1. Many GTE companies operate as GTE Mobilenet but have dissimilar legal names, such as Florida #1B RSA Limited Partnership. Carriers were instructed to provide both their legal name, the principal name under which they conduct carrier activities, and the name of a holding company or common operator if a single entity owns, controls or operates more than one legal entity.

Table 1 lists all carriers alphabetically by legal name. Table 2 presents the same types of information contained in Table 1, but for companies grouped by common ownership or common operation. Carriers that reported no affiliations were excluded from Table 2. Table 3 also presents the same types of information as Table 1, but for companies grouped by type of carrier.

It may be difficult to locate a particular carrier in the tables. Some carriers use more than one name, use a trade name that is different than their legal name, or may be associated with a holding company with yet another name. The TRS Fund Worksheets request that carriers file their legal name, the name of any management company, the name of any affiliated holding company, and also the predominant name under which they provide carrier service. All of the information contained in the attached tables, as well as all names provided on the worksheets, are included in a single LOTUS spreadsheet that can be downloaded from the FCC-State Link internet site at <http://www.fcc.gov/ccb/stats>.

The information contained in the tables reflects the information reported by the carriers, with some corrections made by the TRS Administrator and FCC staff. Please contact the TRS Fund Administrator, NECA, at (973) 884-8173 to make corrections or to identify carriers that did not file, but should have done so.
