

Disclaimer: Many of those listed are species provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention based on reports from state health departments or are results released by other state and federal agencies. The USGS National Wildlife Health Center has not verified the identification of the species provided by these agencies. For a list of dead birds that have tested positive for WNV, please visit the CDC website: <http://www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/westnile/birdspecies.htm>

Note: Species included in this list are wild animals unless followed by a “c,” which denotes either a captive or farmed animal(s). Virus or viral RNA was detected in animal tissue unless followed by an “a,” which denotes detectable antibodies only have been reported. An animal reported as positive may not necessarily indicate illness or death was due to WNV infection, and a positive antibody test result may not indicate clinical illness was reported in the species tested.
