

What types of projects are considered?

Beyond the human factors projects already mentioned, FRA envisions a wide variety of other projects that could fit under the RRP umbrella. Examples include the Collision Hazard Analysis currently in place on some commuter railroads, use of the Track Quality Index for predictive maintenance or capital investment, or use of trending data from hotbox detectors or other sensors. Any innovative use of predictive data could be seen as a potential pilot.