

Biographical Information

Helen Hankins

U.S. Department of the Interior

Bureau of Land Management • Arizona

Associate State Director

Education: B.S., Geology, University of New Mexico, 1973

Career Highlights:

- Bureau of Land Management – Arizona State Office, Phoenix, Arizona
Associate State Director
- Bureau of Land Management – Elko District Office, Elko, Nevada
District Manager
- Bureau of Land Management – Kobuk District Office, Fairbanks, Alaska
Kobuk District Manager
- Bureau of Land Management – Washington Office Division of Budget, Washington, D.C.
Program Analyst
- Bureau of Land Management – Anchorage District Office, Anchorage, Alaska
Supervisory Physical Scientist
Geologist
- Bureau of Land Management – Alaska State Office, Anchorage Alaska
National Petroleum Reserve – Alaska – Geologist
Alaska Reorganization Team – Geologist
- Bureau of Land Management – San Juan Resource Area Office, Durango, Colorado
Geologist
- Bureau of Land Management – National Training Center, Phoenix, Arizona
Geologist/Minerals Program Trainee
- Bureau of Land Management – Albuquerque District Office, Albuquerque, New Mexico
Work Study Student

Accomplishments:

Charter Member Northeastern Nevada Stewardship Group, Elko Nevada
Successful fire rehabilitation of more than 1,000,000 acres in the Great Basin
National Fire Safety Award Recipient
Rotary International Group Study Exchange Team Leader to Thailand - 2007
Distinguished and Advanced Leader Toastmaster

Personal Information and Interests:

Married; Husband, Michael Mauser; 11 Rotary youth exchange students
Interests include: Hiking and backpacking, international travel, reading, weaving

Components of a Successful Lifestyle:

Balance between work and home; diverse, wide-ranging interests, exercise, tolerance, adaptability, friends and family