

result of the current Watch List clearance procedures conducted by air carriers. In order to seek redress, individuals will complete a Traveler Identity Verification Form, or TIVF (formerly called the Passenger Identity Verification Form (PIVF)). These individuals will submit the TIVF, under the penalty of perjury, to TSA, with either a copy of a U.S. Passport, or at least three documents containing certain personal identifying information, such as a birth certificate, driver's license, and voter registration card, as identified on the TIVF. In addition to collecting personally identifiable information, TSA will also collect incident information, including incident date, airline, and flight number as proof of travel. The TIVF will be available on the TSA Web site, at <http://www.tsa.gov>. Individuals will have the option to complete and submit the form online, or to download the form and mail it to TSA with the required documents. TSA estimates that approximately 26,000 individuals will avail themselves of the redress process for the Watch List clearance procedures on an annual basis. TSA estimates that completing the form, gathering, and submitting the information will take approximately one hour per respondent. Thus, TSA estimates the total annual hour burden for individuals seeking redress to be 26,000 hours.

Use of Results

TSA will use the information in support of the agency's redress process for individuals who believe they have been incorrectly delayed or denied boarding for a particular flight as a result of the current Watch List clearance procedure performed by air carriers. TSA will utilize the personally identifying information and proof of travel in order to expedite the watch list clearance process.
