

delisting criteria for the Notes should help to maintain a minimum level of liquidity and therefore minimize the potential for manipulation of the Notes. The Exchange represents that it would file a proposed rule change, pursuant to Rule 19b-4,⁴⁶ (which must be approved for continued trading of the Notes) if the Index Sponsor materially changes the composition of the GSCI®, the Index, the methodology of calculating the value of the GSCI® or the Index, or any other policies relevant to the Index. Finally, the Commission notes that the Information Memorandum that the Exchange will distribute will inform members and member organizations about the terms, characteristics and risks in trading the Notes, including their prospectus delivery obligations.

IV. Conclusion

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change (SR-NYSE-2006-19), as amended, be, and it hereby is, approved.

BILLING CODE 8010-01-P

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-54190; File No. SR-Phlx-2006-30]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Inc.; Order Granting Approval to Proposed Rule Change and Amendment No. 1 Thereto Relating To Reducing Staffing Requirements for Options Specialist Units

July 21, 2006.

On May 4, 2006, the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Inc. ("Phlx" or "Exchange") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission"), pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act")¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² a proposed rule change to amend Phlx Rule 501(d) to reduce the mandatory staffing requirement to be approved as an options or foreign currency options specialist unit and to retain such status, while continuing to enable the Exchange's Options

Allocation, Evaluation and Securities Committee ("Options Allocation Committee") to require a unit to obtain additional staffing. On June 6, 2006, Phlx filed Amendment No. 1 to the proposed rule change.³ The proposed rule change, as amended, was published for comment in the Federal Register on June 20, 2006.⁴ The Commission received no comments regarding the proposal, as amended. This order approves the proposed rule change, as amended.

Currently, Phlx Rule 501(d) requires that to be approved as an options or foreign currency options specialist unit and retain such status, the specialist unit must have at each quarter turret or trading post one head specialist, two assistant specialists (at least one of whom must be associated with the specialist unit), and one specialist clerk.⁵ However, as the Exchange and member organizations continue to enhance options trading technology and options orders are now automatically executed on the Exchange over 90% of the time, the Exchange believes that the need to maintain the present required staffing levels for every specialist unit is significantly reduced. The Exchange believes that, in light of such technological advances, and in conjunction with requests from specialist units for greater staffing flexibility, requiring only one assistant specialist and eliminating the requirement for a specialist clerk is warranted.⁶ Furthermore, the Phlx believes that the number of foreign currency option orders executed on the Exchange does not warrant the continued level of staffing.⁷

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change, as amended, is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange.⁸ In particular, the ³ In Amendment No. 1, the Exchange clarified the rationale for reducing staffing for foreign currency options and made non-substantive changes to the proposed rule change.

⁴ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 53979 (June 14, 2006), 71 FR 35475 (the "Notice").

⁵ The Exchange is also proposing to make non-substantive changes to Phlx Rule 501(d) such as deletion of obsolete references to quarter turrets, which are no longer used on the floor.

⁶ The changes proposed in Phlx Rule 501(d) herein are not intended to alter other specialist unit obligations established by Phlx rules.

⁷ In the Notice, the Exchange represented that in 2005, the number of foreign currency options orders executed on the Exchange was less than one percent of the overall number of option orders executed on the Exchange.

⁸ In approving this proposed rule change, as amended, the Commission notes that it has considered the proposed rule's impact on efficiency, competition, and capital formation. See 15 U.S.C. 78c(f).

Commission believes that the proposal, as amended, is consistent with Section 6(b)(5) of the Act, which requires that the rules of an exchange be designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and to protect investors and the public interest. Specifically, the proposed rule change, as amended, should provide flexibility in options and foreign currency options specialist unit staffing by reducing the mandatory staffing requirement. At the same time, Phlx Rule 501(d) will continue to provide the Options Allocation Committee with the ability to require a specialist unit to obtain additional staffing depending upon the number of assigned options classes and associated order flow.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19(b)(2) of the Act,⁹ that the proposed rule change (SR-Phlx-2006-30), as amended, is hereby approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.¹⁰

Assistant Secretary.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

Authority

Overall grant making authority for this program is contained in the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961, as amended, Public Law 87-256, also known as the Fulbright-Hays Act. The purpose of the Act is "to enable the Government of the United States to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries * * ; to strengthen the ties which unite us with other nations by demonstrating the educational and cultural interests, developments, and achievements of the people of the United States and other nations * * and thus to assist in the development of friendly, sympathetic, and peaceful relations between the United States and the other countries of the world." The funding authority for the program is provided through the Support for East European Democracy (SEED) Act (1989).

Overview

The Serbia Youth Leadership Program will enable teenagers (ages 15-17) and adult educators to participate in intensive, thematic, month-long projects that involve a practical examination of the principles of democracy and civil society as practiced in the United States and provide participants with training that allows them to develop their leadership skills. Participants will be engaged in a variety of activities such as workshops, community and/or school-based programs, seminars, and other activities that are designed to achieve the projects' stated goals and objectives. Opportunities for participants to interact with American youth and educators will be included whenever appropriate.

The goals of the programs are:

- (1) To develop a cadre of young adults in Serbia who have a strong sense of civic responsibility and commitment to community development;
- (2) To foster relationships among youth from different ethnic, religious, and national groups;
- (3) To promote mutual understanding between the United States and the people of other countries.

Applicants should identify their own specific objectives and measurable outcomes based on these program goals and the project specifications provided in this solicitation.

With the specific focus of this program, the following outcomes will indicate a successful project:

- Participants will demonstrate critical thinking and leadership skills.

- Participants will demonstrate a better understanding of the elements of a participatory democracy as practiced in the United States.

- Participants will demonstrate skill at developing project ideas and planning a course of action to bring the projects to fruition.

The Bureau intends to support three discrete projects, each funded at approximately $212,000 and each focusing on a different theme. Organizations may apply to implement one, two, or all three projects. The six themes that showcase U.S. governance and society will be woven through each project. These are listed in no particular order.

- (1) Grassroots activism
- (2) Rule of law and the judiciary
- (3) Religious freedom in the United States
- (4) The role of local and municipal governments
- (5) Ethnic tolerance and living in a multi-ethnic society
- (6) Student activism/student government.

Each of the three projects must address each of the six themes in some way. In addition, for each project applicants must choose one of the themes and develop it into the primary focus of the project; that is, a project will have one dominant theme, and five minor themes. The applicant must then present a program plan that allows the participants to thoroughly explore the dominant theme in a creative, memorable, and practical way, with a particular "hook" or angle. For instance, the participants may engage in a research project or simulation or case study in order to examine the theme in depth. All activities should be designed to be replicable and provide practical knowledge and skills that the participants can apply to school and civic activities at home. The Bureau expects these three proposed projects to be sophisticated and challenging. They will offer bright and ambitious youth and teachers who work with youth with the opportunity to develop their personal characteristics and skills in a positive and productive way.

The total amount of funding available is $636,000. Proposals must clearly indicate the project theme(s) and budgets should be matched to the projects. For instance, if an applicant submits a proposal for one project, its grant request should be approximately $212,000. For two, a request would be for approximately $424,000, and for all three projects, $636,000. Since cost effectiveness is one of the proposal review criteria, the number of participants that can be accommodated in a project will be a factor in the proposal review process, though this will be balanced with program quality and a realistic budget.

Organizational Capacity: Applicant organizations must demonstrate their capacity for doing projects of this nature, focusing on three areas of competency: (1) Provision of programs that address the goals and themes outlined in this document; (2) age-appropriate programming for youth; and (3) previous experience working with Europe and/or Eurasia. Applicants must have the organizational capacity in Serbia necessary to implement the in-country activities, or it must partner with an organization or institution with the requisite capacity to recruit and select participants for the program and to provide follow-on activities.

Organizations applying to implement more than one of the three projects must convincingly demonstrate their capacity to manage a complex, multi-phase program with two or three separate projects. While the applicant may find ways to effectively combine recruitment and selection processes, the exchange projects in the United States need to remain distinct both thematically and temporally. The organization's ability to administer more than one project successfully must be thoroughly discussed and proven in the proposal.

Guidelines: The grant(s) will begin on or about December 1, 2006. The grant period will be 12 to 20 months in duration, as appropriate for the applicant's program design. The four-week exchange in the United States may take place any time during 2007. Applicants must propose the period of the exchange, but the exact timing of the project may be altered through the mutual agreement of the Department of State and the grant recipient.

The grant recipient will be responsible for the following:

- Recruitment and selection of youth and adult educators from diverse geographic regions in Serbia.
- Provision of orientations for exchange participants and participants in the host communities.
- Designing and planning of activities that provide a substantive project on the selected theme, as well as on leadership development, civic education, and community service. Some activities should be school and/or community-based, as feasible, and the projects will involve as much interaction with American peers as possible.
- Logistical arrangements, homestay arrangements and other accommodations, disbursement of stipends/per diem, international and domestic travel.

- Follow-on activities in Serbia that reinforce the ideas, values and skills imparted during the U.S. program.

Recruitment and Selection: The grant recipient(s) will manage the recruitment and merit-based selection of participants in cooperation with the Public Affairs office at the U.S. Embassy in Belgrade. Organizers must strive for the broadest regional, socio-economic, and ethnic diversity. The Department of State and/or its overseas representatives reserve final approval of all selected delegations. Note: Individuals from Montenegro or Kosovo are not eligible for this program.

Participants: The participants will be teenagers 15 to 17 years old at the start of the exchange who have demonstrated leadership aptitude, an interest in community service, and have at least one year of high school remaining after the exchange. The exchange participants will also include adults who are teachers, school administrators, and/or community leaders who work with youth. The ratio of students to adults will be approximately 5:1.

Criteria for selection of participants will be leadership skills, an interest in service to the community, strong academic and social skills, overall composure, openness and flexibility and English proficiency. It is desirable that 2–3 participants attend the same school or live in the same community so that they can support each other upon their return home.

U.S. Program: The month-long projects may take place in one or two communities and should offer the participants exposure to the variety of American life. The program should focus primarily on interactive activities, practical experiences, and other hands-on opportunities to learn about the fundamentals of a civil society, community service, respect for diversity, and building leadership skills. Activities may include training sessions, site visits, roundtable discussions, simulations, volunteer service activities, and leadership exercises. While the educators will join the students for many activities during the exchange, there should also be some program activities arranged to meet their needs as adults who are helping teenagers develop their potential and to offer opportunities for them to meet and work with their peers. All programming should include American participants wherever possible. Cultural, social, and recreational activities will balance the schedule. Participants will live with American families in homestays for at least half of the project period.

Follow-on Activities and In-Country Programming: Follow-on programming for alumni is essential, so that the exchange is not an isolated event. In-country activities that help to support alumni in their post-exchange activities are required. U.S. staff should travel to Serbia several months after the exchange to conduct trainings that reinforce the themes of the exchange; they may be accompanied by American teenagers. Applicants should present creative and effective ways to address the project themes, for both program participants and their peers, as a means to amplify the program impact.

Proposals must demonstrate how the stated objectives will be met. The proposal narrative should provide detailed information on the major program activities, and applicants should explain and justify their programmatic choices. Programs must comply with J-1 visa regulations for the International Visitor category. Please be sure to refer to the complete Solicitation Package—this RFGP, the Project Objectives, Goals, and Implementation (POGI), and the Proposal Submission Instructions (PSI)—for further information.

IV.3d. Please take into consideration the following information when preparing your proposal narrative:

IV.3d.1. Adherence to All Regulations Governing the J Visa

The Office of Citizen Exchanges of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs is the official program sponsor of the exchange program covered by this RFGP, and an employee of the Bureau will be the Responsible Officer for the program under the terms of 22 CFR 62, which covers the administration of the Exchange Visitor Program (J visa program). Under the terms of 22 CFR 62, organizations receiving grants under this RFGP will be third parties "cooperating with or assisting the sponsor in the conduct of the sponsor's program." The actions of grantee program organizations shall be "imputed to the sponsor in evaluating the sponsor's compliance with" 22 CFR 62. Therefore, the Bureau expects that any organization receiving a grant under this competition will render all assistance necessary to enable the Bureau to fully comply with 22 CFR 62 et seq.

The Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs places great emphasis on the secure and proper administration of Exchange Visitor (J visa) Programs and adherence by grantee program organizations and program participants to all regulations governing the J visa program status. Therefore, proposals should explicitly state in writing that the applicant is prepared to assist the Bureau in meeting all requirements governing the administration of Exchange Visitor Programs as set forth in 22 CFR 62. If the applicant organization has experience as a designated Exchange Visitor Program Sponsor, the applicant should discuss its record of compliance with 22 CFR 62 et seq., including the oversight of their Responsible Officers and Alternate Responsible Officers, screening and selection of program participants, provision of pre-arrival information and orientation to participants, monitoring of participants, proper maintenance and security of forms, recordkeeping, reporting and other requirements.

The Office of Citizen Exchanges of ECA will be responsible for issuing DS-2019 forms to participants in this program.

A copy of the complete regulations governing the administration of Exchange Visitor (J) programs is available at <http://exchanges.state.gov> or from: United States Department of State, Office of Exchange Coordination and Designation, ECA/EC/ECDS-SA-44, Room 734, 301 4th Street, SW., Washington, DC 20547. Telephone: (202) 203-5029. Fax: (202) 453-8640.

IV.3d.2. Diversity, Freedom and Democracy Guidelines

Pursuant to the Bureau's authorizing legislation, programs must maintain a non-political character and should be balanced and representative of the diversity of American political, social, and cultural life. "Diversity" should be interpreted in the broadest sense and encompass differences including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, religion, geographic location, socio-economic status, and physical challenges. Applicants are strongly encouraged to adhere to the advancement of this principle both in program administration and in program content. Please refer to the review criteria under the 'Support for Diversity' section for specific suggestions on incorporating diversity into your proposal. Public Law 104-319 provides that "in carrying out programs of educational and cultural exchange in countries whose people do not fully enjoy freedom and democracy," the Bureau "shall take appropriate steps to provide opportunities for participation in such programs to human rights and democracy leaders of such countries." Public Law 106-113 requires that the governments of the countries described above do not have inappropriate influence in the selection process. Proposals should reflect advancement of these goals in their program contents, to the full extent deemed feasible.

IV.3d.3. Program Monitoring and Evaluation

Proposals must include a plan to monitor and evaluate the project's success, both as the activities unfold and at the end of the program. The Bureau recommends that your proposal include a draft survey questionnaire or other technique plus a description of a methodology to use to link outcomes to original project objectives. The Bureau expects that the grantee will track participants or partners and be able to respond to key evaluation questions, including satisfaction with the program, learning as a result of the program, changes in behavior as a result of the program, and effects of the program on institutions (institutions in which participants work or partner institutions). The evaluation plan should include indicators that measure gains in mutual understanding as well as substantive knowledge.

Successful monitoring and evaluation depend heavily on setting clear goals and outcomes at the outset of a program. Your evaluation plan should include a description of your project's objectives, your anticipated project outcomes, and how and when you intend to measure these outcomes (performance indicators). The more that outcomes are "smart" (specific, measurable, attainable, results-oriented, and placed in a reasonable time frame), the easier it will be to conduct the evaluation. You should also show how your project objectives link to the goals of the program described in this RFGP.

Your monitoring and evaluation plan should clearly distinguish between program outputs and outcomes. Outputs are products and services delivered, often stated as an amount. Output information is important to show the scope or size of project activities, but it cannot substitute for information about progress towards outcomes or the results achieved. Examples of outputs include the number of people trained or the number of seminars conducted. Outcomes, in contrast, represent specific results a project is intended to achieve and is usually measured as an extent of change. Findings on outputs and outcomes should both be reported, but the focus should be on outcomes.

We encourage you to assess the following four levels of outcomes, as they relate to the program goals set out in the RFGP (listed here in increasing order of importance):

1. Participant satisfaction with the program and exchange experience.
2. Participant learning, such as increased knowledge, aptitude, skills, and changed understanding and attitude. Learning includes both substantive (subject-specific) learning and mutual understanding.
3. Participant behavior, concrete actions to apply knowledge in work or community; greater participation and responsibility in civic organizations; interpretation and explanation of experiences and new knowledge gained; continued contacts between participants, community members, and others.
4. Institutional changes, such as increased collaboration and partnerships, policy reforms, new programming, and organizational improvements.

Please note: Consideration should be given to the appropriate timing of data collection for each level of outcome. For example, satisfaction is usually captured as a short-term outcome, whereas behavior and institutional changes are normally considered longer-term outcomes.

Overall, the quality of your monitoring and evaluation plan will be judged on how well it (1) Specifies intended outcomes; (2) gives clear descriptions of how each outcome will be measured; (3) identifies when particular outcomes will be measured; and (4) provides a clear description of the data collection strategies for each outcome (i.e., surveys, interviews, or focus groups). (Please note that evaluation plans that deal only with the first level of outcomes [satisfaction] will be deemed less competitive under the present evaluation criteria.)

Grantees will be required to provide reports analyzing their evaluation findings to the Bureau in their regular program reports. All data collected, including survey responses and contact information, must be maintained for a minimum of three years and provided to the Bureau upon request.

IV.3e. Please take the following information into consideration when preparing your budget:

IV.3e.1. Applicants must submit a comprehensive budget for the entire program. Awards may not exceed the amount specified. There must be a summary budget as well as breakdowns reflecting both administrative and program budgets. Applicants applying to implement more than one project must provide separate sub-budgets for each.

Please refer to the other documents in the Solicitation Package for complete budget guidelines and formatting instructions.
