NOTICE TO VOLUNTEER

Volunteers are not considered to be, nor are they, federal employees for any purposes other than Federal tort claims, injury compensation, loss or damage to personal property, and situations involving assaults, threats, and batteries while engaged in the performance of their official duties.

Volunteers are not permitted by Federal law, nor should they be assigned to perform: (1) any law enforcement work (2) any hazardous duty (3) any work in the policymaking process. Volunteers may also be required to undergo background checks, provide requested information, and authorize the disclosure of information pertaining to themselves for this purpose. Volunteer service does not qualify for Federal leave accrual or any other benefit. However, volunteer service can be credited as work experience.
