

13. HELP MENU

The Help menu contains functions that provide information about the INM system.

13.1. Index

Menu Item: Help // Index

Toolbar: Question mark & arrow

This function runs the Microsoft Help program using the INM.HLP file. You can also run the Help system by double clicking on the INM.HLP file name in the INM system directory.

Accessing this function puts you into the Index window of the Help system. You can learn how to use the Help system by accessing the Help // Using Help function.

The toolbar question-mark button allows you to jump directly to a Help section of interest. First, click on the button and get the question-mark cursor to follow the mouse. Then, click on a menu item of interest. You will go directly to the menu item help text.

Another way to jump directly to a Help section is to select (highlight) a menu item and then press the “F1” key.

13.2. Using Help

Menu Item:     Help // Using Help

This function puts you into the standard Microsoft module for learning how to use the Microsoft Help program.

This function relates only to the Help program, and it is not part of the INM system (other than being on the menu).

13.3. INM Logo

Menu Item:     Help // Logo

This function turns on the INM start-up logo. Click on the logo or press the “Enter” key to turn it off.

13.4. About INM

Menu Item:     Help // About INM

The About box contains sponsoring agency name, program name, version number, and program author credits.
