This appropriation covers relocation costs involved in moving agencies from valuable underutilized property, targeted for public sale, to facilities determined to be more economically suitable to their needs. Relocation and disposal is considered when the benefit/cost ratio is at least 2:1. The sale of these valuable underutilized properties would provide significant revenue to the Treasury and would far outweigh the relocation costs involved. The unallocated balance as of the end of 1996 is $1.547 million.

No appropriation is requested for this program in 1998. GSA will solicit relocation proposals from agencies and request funds to implement those proposals that have the highest economic benefit to the Government.

The budget reflects a legislative proposal to retire debt (principal and interest) to the United States Treasury incurred by the former Pennsylvania Avenue Development Corporation (PADC). The Omnibus Appropriations Act of 1996 mandated dissolution of the PADC as of April 1, 1996, but did not address the PADC's outstanding debt to the Treasury. A legislative proposal will be submitted concurrent with the President's Budget which will provide the requisite authorization and funding to retire this debt.

The Public Buildings Service (PBS) has worked hard to become an organization that looks and acts more like a private sector competitor than a federal bureaucracy. PBS has reorganized along major business lines representing the services it provides. The major business lines include: Property Acquisition and Realty Services (satisfying tenant agency space requirements); Property Development (construction and modernization and repair and alterations of federally-owned space); Property Management (managing, operating, repairing and maintaining federal space); Portfolio Management (managing real estate assets to ensure efficient planning, return on investment and use); Federal Protective Service (law enforcement and security within GSA-controlled buildings); and Property Disposal (utilization and disposal of excess Federal real property). This reorganization is consistent with the initiative to privatize real property services.

The Federal Buildings Fund finances the activities of the Public Buildings Service which provides space and services for Federal agencies in a relationship similar to that of landlord and tenant.

The Fund, established in 1975, replaces direct appropriations by using income derived from rent assessments which approximate commercial rates for comparable space and services. Rent and other income to the Fund is as follows:

The Federal Buildings Fund program consists of the following activities financed from rent charges:

Construction and acquisition of facilities.—Space is acquired through the construction or purchase of facilities and prospectus-level extensions to existing buildings. All costs directly attributable to site acquisition, construction, and the full range of design and construction services and management and inspection of construction projects are funded under this activity.

Repairs and alterations.—Repairs and alterations of public buildings as well as associated design and construction services are funded under this activity. Protection of the Government's investment, health and safety of building occupants, transfer of agencies from leased space, and cost effectiveness are the principal criteria used in establishing priorities. Primary consideration is given to repairs to prevent deterioration and damage to buildings, their support systems, and operating equipment. This activity also provides for conversion of existing facilities and non-prospectus extensions.

Installment acquisition payments.—Payments are made for liabilities incurred under purchase contract authority and lease purchase arrangements. The periodic payments cover principal, interest, and other requirements. Purchase contract authority, which provided for private investment capital financing of public buildings, expired at the end of 1975.

Rental of space.—Space is acquired through the leasing of buildings including space occupied by Federal agencies in U.S. Postal Service facilities. This program will provide an estimated 138 million square feet in 1997 and 131 million square feet in 1998.

Building operations.—Services are provided for Government-owned and leased facilities, including cleaning, utilities and fuel, protection, maintenance, miscellaneous services (such as moving, evaluation of new materials and equipment, and field supervision), and general management and administration of all real property related programs including salaries and benefits paid from the Federal Buildings Fund. The following list shows the 1997 and 1998 direct program (estimated square feet and expenses in millions):

Total .....	—	1,496	—	1,428

Other programs.—When requested by Federal agencies, the Public Buildings Service provides building services such as tenant alterations, cleaning and other operations, and protection services which are in excess of those services provided under the commercial rental charge. For presentation purposes the balances of the Unconditional Gifts of Real, Personal, or Other Property trust fund have been combined with the Federal Buildings Fund.

Prior year project and activities funded from budget year income.—Actual income for fiscal year 1996 and estimated income for fiscal year 1997 will be $681 million less than the estimated amounts included in the fiscal year 1997 President's Budget. Consequently, funds in this amount must be provided again in fiscal year 1998, to be funded from fiscal year 1998 revenue to the Federal Buildings Fund.

Agency debt.—The following table reflects agency debt outstanding for the construction of federal buildings under authorities previously provided:

Public Law 99-88 provided that expenses of Transportation Audit Contracts and Contract Administration activities shall be financed from overcharges collected from carriers on transportation bills paid by the Government and other similar type refunds. Public Law 99-627 granted GSA authority to delegate to the Government agencies prepayment audit of their transportation bills before they pay transportation carriers, permanent authority to pay transportation audit contractors from carrier overcharges collected, and authority to transfer net overpayments collected to the Treasury. Public Law 103-123 provided that additional expenses be financed from overpayments collected from carriers.

In 1996, $11 million of carrier overpayments were collected, and $5 million was returned to the U.S. Treasury. Due to downsizing and cost containment, overpayment collections should fully cover program costs commencing in fiscal year 1998.

This fund finances, on a reimbursable basis, a national supply distribution system, a system of ordering supplies for direct delivery to agencies, a system providing for the management, on a worldwide basis, for the sale of surplus personal property for agencies, a system of transportation and travel management which ensures discounted rates for lodging, transportation, and small package mailings for Federal customers, and a system of interagency Federal Fleet Management Centers. Legislation was enacted in fiscal year 1988 to authorize full cost recovery for all supply management, operating, and overhead expenses related to providing goods and services to other agencies through the General Supply Fund. Full cost recovery pricing results in the true cost of supplies and services being reflected in charges to agencies. In 1997, the Information Technology Multiple Award Schedules Program was consolidated into the Supply Schedules Program in the General Supply Fund. In 1998, the Supply Schedules and Transportation and Travel Management Programs will complete their transition from appropriated funding to the General Supply Fund.

Supply operations.—

Stores, regular.—Stock of common-use commodities is purchased in volume, stocked, and issued through supply facilities to Government agencies. Sales were $948 million in 1996 and are estimated to be $881 million in 1997 and $873 million in 1998. Each year, GSA performs a "market basket" survey comparing the commercial price to the GSA price for 120 commonly used office supplies. Survey results showed GSA prices to be, on average, 22% lower than major commercial retailers. In terms of service, the percentage of requisitions filled from stock within 15 days was 96%, exceeding the goal of 93%, and requisitions were shipped in an average of 7.4 days versus a goal of 10 days.

Stores, direct delivery.—Orders for store-type items, if sufficiently large and delivery time is not a factor, are placed with the commercial source of supply for delivery directly to the customer. Sales were $63 million in 1996, and are estimated to be $62 million in 1997, and $61 million in 1998.

Special orders.—Definite quantity requirements of commodities which are not susceptible to economical stocking in supply facilities are purchased for direct shipment to user agencies. Sales were $1,439 million in 1996, and are estimated to be $1,420 million in 1997, and $1,406 million in 1998.

Schedules.—This contracting function provides a governmentwide supply support program of commercial items and information technology items required by Federal agencies and other authorized users. Sales were $19 million in 1996 and are expected to be $30 million in 1997 and $32 million in 1998. The on-line electronic catalog system, GSA Advantage, currently contains 85,000 stock items available for electronic shopping. By September 1997, the universe of supply products, over 4 million items, will be available on-line.

Miscellaneous.—The Personal Property Sales Program sales were $15 million in 1996 and are estimated to be $12 million in 1997 and $4 million in 1998. The Transportation and Travel Management Program sales were $2 million in 1996 and are estimated to be $3 million in 1997 and $4 million in 1998. The GSA Standard Tender of Service saved an estimated $95 million through agreements with motor carriers for freight shipments in 1996. The Next Day Small Package Program saved $40 million, achieving a price break of 36% compared to equivalent commercial rates.

Federal Fleet Management Centers.—Services are provided through a system of Fleet Management Centers. Sales were $713 million in 1996, and are estimated to be $793 million in 1997 and $795 million in 1998. GSA's fleet management system has kept its operating costs fairly level since 1993, with the average cost per mile fluctuating less than 3% from 1993 through 1996. During this same period, cost per mile dropped from 27.6 to 27.3 cents.

In fiscal year 1998, GSA plans to meet quotas for alternative fuel vehicle (AFV) procurements contained in the Energy Policy Act of 1992. GSA plans on requesting funds from each federal agency, for their prorata share of the incremental cost in procuring the AFVs.

The Information Technology Fund was authorized by the Paperwork Reduction Reauthorization Act of 1986, as included in Public Laws 99-500 and 99-591, section 821(a)(1). The Fund was established as of January 1, 1987, and consists of the assets, liabilities and capital of the Federal Telecommunications Fund and the Automatic Data Processing Fund. The purpose of the fund is to help ensure that automatic data processing, telecommunications, and other information technologies are acquired and used by the Federal Government in a manner which improves service delivery and program management, increases productivity, improves the quality of decisionmaking, reduces waste and fraud, and wherever practicable and appropriate, reduces the information processing burden for the Federal Government and for persons who provide information to and for the Federal Government.

The fund provides information technology resources to Federal agencies for promoting use of the latest technology to deliver services, and for the efficient management, coordination, operation, and use of such resources.

Levels of funding for capital investments and for operating capital are determined through the submission and approval process of planned cost and capital requirements to OMB by GSA pursuant to section 110(a)(1), Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended by Public Law 99-591.

The Information Technology Fund finances, on a reimbursable basis, the following Government-wide IT programs and services:

Federal Telecommunications Service (FTS).—The FTS provides Government-wide telecommunications services to all Federal agencies. The Interagency Management Council (IMC) serves as a Board of Directors for the development, coordination, and customer-driven oversight of the Federal telecommunications program.

FTS2000 Long Distance Telecommunications Service.—Provides long-distance telecommunications services to more than 1.7 million users through two ten-year multi-billion dollar FTS2000 contracts awarded to AT&T and Sprint in December 1988. The contracts provide the Government with low-cost, state-of-the-art, integrated voice, data and video telecommunications services. The contracts provide for “services” rather than equipment. GSA’s role is to oversee and manage the provision of those services. Responsibilities include several IMC-approved government-wide initiatives aimed at lowering the cost while improving the quality and access to new services. The Blue Pages Project offers a significant opportunity to improve customer access to government services by improving the way government services are listed in telephone directories. Also included in this activity is the GSA support to government-wide national security emergency preparedness plans and ensuring that the critical telecommunications needs of the Government are available during local, national, and international crises.

Regional Telecommunications Services.—Provides nationwide consolidated local telecommunications service, aggregated access to FTS2000, and competitively procured contracts for equipment maintenance and services. To take advantage of the changing local telecommunications marketplace GSA has initiated the Metropolitan Area Acquisition (MAA). The MAA will leverage market forces to gain immediate and significant price reductions, offer federal agencies flexibility in choosing services, and encourage interagency aggregation and sharing of telecommunications resources consistent with agency requirements and budgets.

Information Security.—Provides worldwide information technology support services to all Government activities, including our nation’s allies, conducting classified, sensitive but unclassified, diplomatic or military missions on a non-mandatory, fully reimbursable basis. To meet this responsibility, the program participates in the development of Government-wide information security policies and provides a comprehensive range of information security technical services necessary to manage and support mission critical information systems.

Information Technology Integration.—This activity is comprised of several non-mandatory programs aimed at meeting client needs in the acquisition and effective use of information technology resources. The Federal Information Systems Support Program, (FISSP) provides information systems services to Federal agencies in the areas of IT business applications, facilities management, software definition and design, scientific/engineering applications and computer security. Services are provided through regional contracts with private sector vendors tailored to local market conditions and needs of client Federal agencies. The Federal Systems Integration and Management Center (FEDSIM) manages Government-wide contracts to meet the needs of agencies that elect to outsource their IT requirements. Services include Federal Information Processing resources acquisition, systems integration, software management, information technology facilities management, local area network implementation, and networking. The Federal Computer Acquisition Center (FEDCAC) provides support in the competitive acquisition of large dollar value (more than $100 million) non-developmental computer systems and associated services. The Information Services Technical Support (ISTS) Program provides GSA-wide information infrastructure for data communications and National Systems Program in support of GSA business lines.

Under its Policy activity, this appropriation provides for Government-wide policy, evaluation, and asset management functions associated with real and personal property, supplies, information technology, acquisition support, transportation and travel management, Federal Procurement Data Center, Federal Equipment Data Center, Regulatory Information Service Center, the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, and the Committee Management Secretariat. The Office of Government-wide Policy, working cooperatively with other agencies, provides the leadership needed to develop and evaluate the implementation of policies designed to achieve the most cost-effective solutions for the delivery of administrative services, while reducing regulations and empowering employees.

Under the Operations activity, the account provides for Federal Supply, Federal Telecommunications, Information Technology, Federal Information Center, Property Disposal, General Management and Administration and Chief Information Officer programs. These programs include contracting for transportation and travel services and schedules; management of programs to procure automated data processing services and equipment; utilization of real and personal property by Federal agencies and the transfer among agencies of excess real and personal property; disposal of surplus real property by sale, exchange, lease, permit, assignment, or transfer, as well as the protection and maintenance of excess and surplus property pending its disposition; appraisal of excess and surplus property, necessary environmental and cultural analyses, reuse planning, and real property utilization surveys; Indian Trust Accounting, and administrative support of Congressional District and Senate State offices.

This appropriation provides agencywide audit and investigative functions to identify and correct management and administrative deficiencies within GSA which create conditions for existing or potential instances of fraud, waste and mismanagement. The audit function provides internal audit and contract audit services. Contract audits provide professional advice to GSA contracting officials on accounting and financial matters relative to the negotiation, award, administration, repricing, and settlement of contracts. Internal audits review and evaluate all facets of GSA operations and programs, test internal control systems, and develop information to improve operating efficiencies and enhance customer services. The investigative function provides for the detection and investigation of improper and illegal activities involving GSA programs, personnel, and operations.

The Consumer Information Center Fund provides for the efficient operation of the Consumer Information Center's activities. Under the revolving fund, the Consumer Information Center's activities are financed from moneys deposited to the fund, consisting of annual appropriations from the general funds of the Treasury, reimbursements from agencies, fees collected from the public and other income incident to Consumer Information Center activities.

Administrative expenses.—The Consumer Information Center helps Federal departments and agencies release consumer information collected as a by-product of the Government's program activities. The Consumer Information Center maintains close working relationships with more than 40 Federal agencies in order to identify, develop, promote, and make accessible to the public Federal consumer information. In addition, the Consumer Information Center promotes public awareness of this information through publication of the quarterly Consumer Information Catalog, through special projects promoting the catalog, and through various media services. Administrative expenses are funded by the direct appropriation and by fees collected from the public when ordering publications listed in the catalog.

Publications distribution.—The Consumer Information Center bills agencies and in turn reimburses the Government Printing Office for the costs of distributing free publications to the public.

This fund provides for general management and administration, centralized internal and external reimbursable administrative support functions, duplicating, and distribution operations.

Centralized administration.—Centralized administrative support services are funded through reimbursable funding from GSA's benefiting accounts and from external sources including small agencies and commissions for services provided. Reimbursable services include administrative, financial, and management support, legal advice and services and equal employment opportunity; budgetary policy and liaison activities with Congress and OMB; and management review and oversight of financial management systems. This funding provides liaison with the Small Business Administration on national minority business proposals and contracts to ensure that minority and small business receive a fair share of the agency's business. Responsible for implementation and execution of the functions and duties under sections 8 and 15 of the Small Business Act (P.L. 95-507).

Centralized duplicating and distribution operation.—Fast turn-around duplicating and distribution services are provided for the General Services Administration and other Federal agencies. These duplicating and distribution operations are under continuous review to ensure that they are the least costly alternative to the Government.

Chief Information Officer (CIO).—The CIO, created by the Information Technology Reform Act of 1995, works collaboratively with GSA's Service and business line leaders, and other agencies' CIOs, to focus on the most significant technology issues relating to business goals. The organization focuses on overall GSA business improvement through information technology (IT) planning, management and investment, and serves as the agency's focal point for assuring an IT emphasis that provides sound capital planning, leveraging of agencywide IT, and effective performance measurements of major system results.
