INTRODUCTION

The General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) was concluded during the Uruguay Round, and constitutes an integral part of the Uruguay Round Agreements that entered into force on January 1, 1995. The GATS comprises: (1) a framework of rules and obligations (e.g., most-favored-nation (MFN) treatment⁴ and regulatory transparency) intended to facilitate international trade and investment in services; (2) national schedules, wherein countries list commitments to accord market access and national treatment⁵ to foreign service providers on an industry-by-industry basis, subject to explicit exceptions; and (3) a series of annexes and ministerial decisions that augment rules found in the framework and provide for follow-up activities and additional negotiations. Most of the detail of the final agreement resides in the national schedules of commitments. To date, 132 countries have submitted national schedules. About two-thirds of these have also submitted MFN Exemption Lists, which identify the nature and duration of preferences accorded to service suppliers from certain foreign countries.

At the request of the Office of the United States Trade Representative, the United States International Trade Commission (USITC) assumed responsibility for maintaining and updating, as necessary, the United States' Schedule of Commitments (U.S. Schedule) and List of Article II (MFN) Exemptions.⁶ To date, the USITC has updated these documents three times: first, to incorporate financial service commitments and exemptions following from the interim agreement concluded July 28, 1995 (supplement 1); second, to incorporate basic telecommunication service commitments and exemptions following from the agreement concluded February 15, 1997 (supplement 2); and third, to incorporate final financial service commitments and exemptions following from the agreement concluded December 12, 1997 (supplement 3).

In light of the follow-on agreements, this document presents the U.S. Schedule and List of Article II (MFN) Exemptions in three parts. The U.S. Schedule and List of Article II (MFN) Exemptions finalized in April 1994 appear first. Thereafter, supplement 2 of these documents,⁷ comprising commitments and exemptions pertaining to basic telecommunication services, appears in appendices A and B, respectively. Supplement 3, comprising final commitments and exemptions pertaining to financial services, follows in appendices C and D, respectively. Appendix E provides a glossary of technical terms.

Concordance of Industry Classifications

To facilitate comparison of the U.S. Schedule with foreign schedules, the USITC has developed a concordance that demonstrates the relationships between sectors found in the U.S. Schedule, sectors identified in the GATT Secretariat's Services Sectoral Classification List, and sectors defined and numbered in the United Nations' Provisional Central Product Classification (CPC) System. In preparing national schedules, countries were requested to identify and define sectors and subsectors in accordance with the GATT Secretariat's list, which lists sectors and their respective CPC numbers. Accordingly, foreign schedules frequently make explicit references to the CPC numbers. The U.S. Schedule makes no explicit references to CPC numbers, but it corresponds closely with the GATT Secretariat's list.

The concordance developed by the USITC clarifies how the service sectors referenced in the GATT Secretariat's list, the CPC System, and the U.S. Schedule correspond. The first column of the concordance

⁴ MFN treatment accords to each trading partner terms and conditions of trade that are no less favorable than those accorded to any other trading partner. See appendix E for a glossary of selected technical terms.

⁵ National treatment generally accords to foreign firms the same rights and obligations accorded to domestic firms.

⁶ The USTR requested that the USITC undertake responsibility for maintaining the U.S. Schedule in a letter dated April 18, 1994. The USITC instituted Inv. No. 332-354, Program to Maintain U.S. Schedule of Services Commitments, on May 13, 1994.

⁷ Supplement 3 supercedes supplement 1, eliminating the need to present it in this document.

identifies the service sectors listed by the GATT Secretariat. The second column identifies the CPC classifications that correspond to the GATT Secretariat's list. The third column identifies the sectors addressed in the U.S. Schedule, and the fourth column provides more detailed information regarding the structure and coverage of the U.S. Schedule.

The U.S. Schedule

The format of the U.S. Schedule conforms to the structure specified by the GATT. Accordingly, the U.S. Schedule first presents horizontal commitments, which apply to all service sectors for which the United States has scheduled sector-specific commitments. Afterward, beginning on page 15, the U.S. Schedule presents sector-specific commitments, which apply to individual service sectors.

The U.S. Schedule is configured as a matrix, with horizontal issues and individual service sectors listed along the vertical axis and commitments to provide market access, national treatment, and additional commitments along the horizontal axis. Additional commitments pertain to issues such as the recognition of professional qualifications, compliance with technical standards, and licensing requirements or procedures.

The U.S. Schedule records the existence or absence of commitments in each cell of the matrix. Limitations are specific to mode of supply, which is the means of providing services to foreign consumers. Modes of supply include:

- cross-border supply, whereby the service is transported beyond the country of the service supplier to the foreign consumer (the service supplier is not present within the territory of the consumer);
- consumption abroad, whereby the consumer, or the consumer's property, receives a service outside the territory of the consumer's country;
- commercial presence, whereby a service supplier establishes a type of business or professional establishment in the foreign market; and
- presence of natural persons, whereby one individual, acting alone or as an employee of a service provider, provides a service while present in a foreign market.

Inside each cell of the matrix, the four modes of supply are represented by numbers one through four. Information regarding limitations on cross-border supply appear beside number one; consumption abroad, number two; commercial presence, number three; and presence of natural persons, number four. Where commitments exist, details regarding the limitations appear after the appropriate number, in the appropriate cell. For instance, details regarding the U.S. market access limitations on the cross-border supply of legal services appear in the row pertaining to legal services, in the column pertaining to limitations on market access, after the number one.

The words "Unbound" and "None" also appear in cells of the U.S. Schedule. The word "Unbound" conveys that a measure inconsistent with market access or national treatment may be introduced in the sector for a specific mode of supply without penalty. Unbound measures may grow more restrictive in the future. The word "None" conveys that no sector-specific limitations apply for a specific mode of supply. Where all modes of supply are "Unbound" and no additional commitments have been undertaken for a given service sector, the sector does not appear in the schedule. For instance, the United States scheduled no commitments with respect to medical and dental services. As a result, medical and dental services do not appear in the U.S. Schedule. Finally, in cases where a particular mode of supply is not technically feasible (e.g., cross-border supply of cleaning services), the term "Unbound" followed by an asterisk (Unbound*) is used.

List of MFN Exemptions

Article II of the GATS states that Members shall accord MFN treatment to all other Members. Since several Members expressed concern about free-ridership, the agreement permits some exceptions to MFN obligations. These exceptions are listed in the "Article II (MFN) Exemptions." The United States' List of MFN Exemptions is presented in a table with five columns. The first column identifies the sector(s) in question; the second column describes the measure that is inconsistent with MFN treatment; the third column identifies the countries to which the MFN exemption applies; the fourth column indicates the expected duration of the measure; and the fifth column provides an explanation of the conditions that create the need for such an exemption.

These subsectors are unbound with respect to Article XVI of the GATS. In addition, 1) this subsector shall be unbound with respect to market access through modes 1 and 3 for the expansion of existing operations, the establishment of a new commercial presence (in mode 3 only) or the conduct of new activities, and 2) service suppliers choosing to supply a service through a juridical person constituted under the laws of the United States are subject to non-discriminatory limitations on juridical form. National treatment commitments are subject to the following limitation: National treatment will be provided according to the foreign bank's "home State" in the United States, as that term is defined under the International Banking Act.²¹ ²¹ Foreign banking organizations are generally subject to geographic limitations in the United States on a national treatment basis. Where geographic limits do not conform to national treatment, they have been reserved as market access restrictions. For purposes of illustration, under this approach the following situations do not accord national treatment and are therefore scheduled as limitations: 1) where a foreign bank from a particular home State is accorded less favourable treatment than that accorded to a domestic bank from that State with respect to expansion by branching, and 2) where a foreign bank is treated less favourably than a domestic bank holding company from the foreign bank's home State with respect to expansion through acquisition or establishment of a bank subsidiary.

This prohibition does not apply to a foreign bank branch that was engaged in insured deposit-taking activities on December 19, 1991.	3) Foreign banks are required to register under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 to engage in securities advisory and investment management services in the United States, while domestic banks are exempt from registration. The registration requirement involves record maintenance, inspections, submission of reports and payment of a fee. Foreign banks cannot be members of the Federal Reserve System, and thus may not vote for directors of a Federal Reserve Bank. Foreign-owned bank subsidiaries are not subject to this measure. Branch, agency and representative offices of foreign banks are required to be charged for the cost of Federal Reserve examinations.

REFERENCE PAPER

Scope

The following are definitions and principles on the regulatory framework for the basic telecommunications services.

Definitions

Users mean service consumers and service suppliers.

Essential facilities mean facilities of a public telecommunications transport network or service that

- (a) are exclusively or predominantly provided by a single or limited number of suppliers; and
- (b) cannot feasibly be economically or technically substituted in order to provide a service.

A major supplier is a supplier which has the ability to materially affect the terms of participation (having regard to price and supply) in the relevant market for basic telecommunications services as a result of:

- (a) control over essential facilities; or
- (b) use of its position in the market.

1. Competitive safeguards

1.1 Prevention of anti-competitive practices in telecommunications

Appropriate measures shall be maintained for the purpose of preventing suppliers who, alone or together, are a major supplier from engaging in or continuing anti-competitive practices.

1.2 Safeguards

The anti-competitive practices referred to above shall include in particular:

- (a) engaging in anti-competitive cross-subsidization;
- (b) using information obtained from competitors with anti-competitive results; and
- (c) not making available to other services suppliers on a timely basis technical information about essential facilities and commercially relevant information which are necessary for them to provide services.

2. Interconnection

2.1 This section applies to linking with suppliers providing public telecommunications transport networks or services in order to allow the users of one supplier to communicate with users of another supplier and to access services provided by another supplier, where specific commitments are undertaken.

2.2 Interconnection to be ensured²²

²²Rural local exchange carriers may be exempted by a state regulatory authority for a limited period of time from the obligations of section 2.2. with regard to interconnection with competing local exchange carriers.

Interconnection with a major supplier will be ensured at any technically feasible point in the network. Such interconnection is provided.

- (a) under non-discriminatory terms, conditions (including technical standards and specifications) and rates and of a quality no less favourable than that provided for its own like services or for like services of non-affiliated service suppliers or for its subsidiaries or other affiliates;
- (b) in a timely fashion, on terms, conditions (including technical standards and specifications) and cost-oriented rates that are transparent, reasonable, having regard to economic feasibility, and sufficiently unbundled so that the supplier need not pay for network components or facilities that it does not require for the service to be provided; and
- (c) upon request, at points in addition to the network termination points offered to the majority of users, subject to charges that reflect the cost of construction of necessary additional facilities.

2.3 Public availability of the procedures for interconnection negotiations

The procedures applicable for interconnection to a major supplier will be made publicly available.

2.4 Transparency of interconnection arrangements

It is ensured that a major supplier will make publicly available either its interconnection agreements or a reference interconnection offer.

2.5 Interconnection: dispute settlement

A service supplier requesting interconnection with a major supplier will have recourse, either:

- (a) at any time or
- (b) after a reasonable period of time which has been made publicly known to an independent domestic body, which may be a regulatory body as referred to in paragraph 5 below, to resolve disputes regarding appropriate terms, conditions and rates for interconnection within a reasonable period of time, to the extent that these have not been established previously.

3. Universal service

Any Member has the right to define the kind of universal service obligation it wishes to maintain. Such obligations will not be regarded as anti-competitive per se, provided they are administered in a transparent, non-discriminatory and competitively neutral manner and are not more burdensome than necessary for the kind of universal service defined by the Member.

4. Public availability of licensing criteria

Where a licence is required, the following will be made publicly available:

- (a) all the licensing criteria and the period of time normally required to reach a decision concerning an application for a licence and
- (b) the terms and conditions of individual licences.

The reasons for the denial of a licence will be made known to the applicant upon request.

Rural telephone companies do not have to provide interconnection to competing local exchange carriers in the manner specified in section 2.2. until ordered to do so by a state regulatory authority.

5. Independent regulators

The regulatory body is separate from, and not accountable to, any supplier of basic telecommunications services. The decisions of and the procedures used by regulators shall be impartial with respect to all market participants.

6. Allocation and use of scarce resources

Any procedures for the allocation and use of scarce resources, including frequencies, numbers and rights of way, will be carried out in an objective, timely, transparent and non-discriminatory manner. The current state of allocated frequency bands will be made publicly available, but detailed identification of frequencies allocated for specific government uses is not required.

3. National treatment commitments in this subsector are subject to the following limitation: national treatment with respect to services and service suppliers will be provided according to a non-U.S. service supplier’s state of domicile, where applicable, in the United States. B. FINANCIAL SERVICES (LIMITED TO BANKING AND OTHER FINANCIAL SERVICES AND EXCLUDING INSURANCE): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Commitments in these subsectors are undertaken in accordance with the Understanding on Commitments in Financial Services (the “Understanding”), subject to the limitations and conditions set forth in these headnotes and the schedule below. 2. The market access commitments in these subsectors in respect of modes (1) and (2), as described in paragraphs 2(a) and (b) of Article I of the Agreement, are limited to the services indicated in paragraphs B.3(c) and B.4(c) of the market access section of the Understanding, respectively. It is understood that paragraph B.4 of the Understanding does not require that non-resident financial service suppliers be permitted to solicit business, and no commitment to such solicitation is undertaken. 3. National treatment commitments in these subsectors are subject to the following limitation: National treatment will be provided based upon the foreign bank’s “home state” in the United States, as that term is defined under the International Banking Act, where that Act is applicable. A domestic bank subsidiary of a foreign firm will have its own “home state” and national treatment will be provided based upon the subsidiary’s home state, as determined under applicable law.¹ 4. Service suppliers choosing to supply a service through a juridical person constituted under the laws of the United States are subject to non-discriminatory limitations on juridical form.² 5. The offer of new financial services or products is subject, on a non-discriminatory basis, to relevant institutional and juridical form requirements.

¹ Foreign banking organizations are generally subject to geographic and other limitations in the United States on a national treatment basis. Where such limitations do not conform to national treatment, they have been reserved as market access restrictions. For purposes of illustration, under this approach, the following situation does not accord national treatment and would therefore be scheduled as a limitation: a foreign bank from a particular home state is accorded less favourable treatment than that accorded to a domestic bank from that state with respect to expansion by branching.

² For example, partnerships and sole proprietorships are generally not acceptable juridical forms for depository financial institutions in the United States.

ADDITIONAL COMMITMENTS PAPER I

- (a) Taking note of principles of federalism under the United States Constitution, recognizing that insurance has been regulated at the state government level since the beginning of insurance regulation in the United States, and further recognizing the provision of the McCarran-Ferguson Act that “[t]he business of insurance...shall be subject to the laws of the several States,” the Government of the United States welcomes efforts by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (“NAIC”) to promote the harmonization of state insurance regulation, through such steps as its Accreditation Program and the preparation of model insurance laws.
- (b) The Government of the United States notes that under Accreditation Program, the NAIC selects an independent team of auditors to review the compliance of states with the laws, regulations, and regulatory and organizational practices contained in the NAIC accreditation standards. The team reports to the NAIC, which determines whether a state qualifies for accreditation under the standards. As of October 11, 1994, 37 states were accredited by the NAIC through this program.
- (c) The Government of the United States notes that NAIC Model Laws are designed to facilitate legislative and regulatory action on common problems among the states and are intended to save duplication of effort on the part of the states. Some models are adopted by all or most of the states, so there is a harmonizing effect. Some models serve as guidelines which the states may adopt, utilize or amend to fit their individual needs. Certain models have been identified as being of such import that their adoption is necessary for states to be accredited pursuant to NAIC financial regulation standards.
- (d) The Government of the United States encourages the NAIC to continue its effort to work with state governments on these programs.
- (e) Recognizing principles of federalism, the long history of state regulation of insurance in the United States, and the McCarran-Ferguson Act, and noting the concerns of regulators who seek to further increase internationalization of their insurance markets while addressing prudential concerns, the Government of the United States:
 - (i) welcomes that the NAIC in October 1993 adopted a model law on the initial entry of non-U.S. insurance providers without their prior establishment in another state, and the Government of the United States encourages the NAIC to continue and as appropriate intensify its efforts with relevant state authorities with regard to this issue;
 - (ii) would welcome consideration by the NAIC, if appropriate, of the issue of the time period for review of licensing applications of insurance providers, from the perspective that regulatory authorities should make administrative decisions on completed applications of insurance providers within a reasonable time; and
 - (iii) welcomes efforts by the NAIC to review with the states the question of citizenship requirements for the boards of directors of foreign insurance providers, and the Government of the United States encourages the NAIC to continue and as appropriate intensify its efforts with relevant state authorities within regard to this issue.
- (f) The Government of the United States notes the concern raised by another Member that different state regulations for foreign insurance providers on lines of products permitted, trusted assets requirements, deposit requirements, remittance ceiling and reinsurance trust funds affect foreign insurance providers' ability to enter the insurance market of the United States.

ADDITIONAL COMMITMENTS PAPER II

- (1) The Administration has expressed its support for Glass-Steagall reform on a national treatment basis and will work with Congress to achieve an appropriate framework to accomplish this objective.
- (2) The Administration, noting that even before the adoption of the Riegle-Neal banking legislation, many states had taken action to liberalize interstate acquisitions of banks on a basis that provided national treatment to foreign banks, welcomes further initiatives by states to provide additional access on a non-discriminatory basis.
- (3) The Government of the United States has taken action to remove impediments to the offering of securities in the United States by foreign and domestic issuers. The National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996 preempts state regulation of offerings of certain securities, including those listed on the New York Stock Exchange, the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation/National Market System, and securities issued by registered investment companies. This legislation eliminates duplicative state and federal securities legislation in the area of securities registration.
- (4) Section 7(d) of the Investment Company Act authorizes the SEC to permit a foreign investment company to register and publicly offer its shares in the United States if the SEC makes the following prudential findings:
 1. that it is both legally and practically feasible for the SEC and U.S. investors effectively to enforce the provisions of the Investment Company Act against the investment company, and
 2. that it is consistent with the requirements set forth in the Investment Company Act.
- (5) The Government of the United States notes that the Federal Reserve, working in cooperation with other domestic supervisory authorities, has established an enhanced framework for the regulation and supervision of U.S. operations of foreign banks, which endeavors to coordinate annual examinations of foreign banks and provide uniform guidance with respect to examination policies.

Glossary of Selected Technical Terms

GLOSSARY

Bound commitment: A commitment that cannot be made more restrictive in the future; only further liberalization is permitted (unless an agreed penalty is paid).

Commercial presence: One of four possible modes of delivering services to foreign consumers, whereby a service supplier establishes any type of business or professional establishment in the foreign market for the purpose of supplying a service. Commercial presence comprises entities such as corporate subsidiaries, trusts, joint ventures, partnerships, sole proprietorships, associations, representative offices, and branches. See modes of supply.

Commitment: A measure, usually regarding market access and national treatment, that affects international trade in services. Commitments are listed in national schedules and identify service sectors and modes of supply that are affected. See bound commitment, unbound commitment, full commitment, standstill commitment, rollback commitment, sector-specific commitment and horizontal commitment. See measure.

Consumption abroad: One of four possible modes of delivering services to foreign consumers, whereby the consumer, or the consumer's property, receives a service outside the territory of the consumer's country, either by moving or being situated abroad. See modes of supply.

Cross-border supply: One of four possible modes of delivering services to foreign consumers, whereby the service is delivered within the territory of the consumer, from the territory of the service supplier. Cross-border supply may entail transportation by mail, telecommunication, or the physical movement of merchandise embodying a service (e.g., a diskette storing information) from one country to another. The service supplier is not present within the territory where the service is delivered. See modes of supply.

Horizontal commitment: Commitment that applies to international trade in multiple service sectors. Typically, horizontal commitments constitute limitations on market access or national treatment. In the national schedules, horizontal commitments appear at the beginning, before the sector-specific commitments.

Juridical person: Any legal entity duly constituted or otherwise organized under applicable law, whether for profit or otherwise and whether privately- or governmentally-owned. Juridical persons include any corporation, trust, partnership, joint venture, sole proprietorship, or association. Branches and representative offices are not included.

Full commitment: This is recorded in the national schedule of a country that wishes to impose no limit on market access or national treatment in a given sector and mode of supply. However, any relevant horizontal limitations still apply. In the national schedules, a full commitment is reflected by the word "none" in the relevant service sector and mode of supply.

Measure: A law, regulation, rule, procedure, decision, or administrative action that affects trade in services. Measures may pertain to: (1) the purchase, payment, or use of a service; (2) a service supplier's access to, and use of, services which are required to be available to the general public; and (3) a service supplier's ability to establish a presence, including a commercial presence, in a host country.

Modes of supply: Means of delivering services to foreign consumers. Modes of supply are defined on the basis of the origins of the service supplier and consumer, and the type of territorial presence that both have when the service is delivered. There are four modes of supply: (1) cross-border supply; (2) consumption abroad; (3) commercial presence; and (4) presence of natural persons. See definitions of each for more information.

Most Favored Nation (MFN): Trading status accorded to a nation wherein the terms and conditions of trade with that nation are as favorable as those with any other nation. The MFN obligation in Article II of the GATS states that the most favorable treatment actually accorded in all sectors, whether the subject of a commitment or not, must also be accorded to all other Members, unless an MFN exemption has been filed.

Most Favored Nation exemption: Specific exceptions to the MFN obligation are included in each Member's "List of MFN Exemptions."

National treatment: Treatment of a foreign service supplier that is no less favorable than that accorded to domestic service suppliers.

Natural person: An individual who is a national of a country under the law of that country, or in the case of a country which does not have nationals (e.g., territories), an individual who has the right of permanent residence under the law of that country. See juridical person.

Presence of natural persons: One of four possible modes of delivering services to foreign consumers, whereby one individual, acting alone or as an employee of a service supplier, provides a service while present in a foreign market. For example, a U.S. accounting firm that provides accounting services in Italy by sending U.S. employees to Italy (to either live or visit temporarily) is delivering its service through the "presence of natural persons." See modes of supply.

Rollback commitment: A type of bound commitment wherein a country maintains some, but not all, currently existing regulations that limit market access or national treatment in a given sector and mode of supply. In the national schedules, a rollback commitment will describe the remaining measures that are inconsistent with free market access and national treatment.

Supply of a service: The production, distribution, marketing, sale, and delivery of a service.

Standstill commitment: A type of bound commitment wherein a country maintains all existing regulations that limit market access or national treatment in a given sector and mode of supply. In the national schedules, a standstill commitment will describe the measures that are currently inconsistent with free market access and national treatment.

Unbound limitation: A measure inconsistent with market access or national treatment that can be made more restrictive in the future. In the national schedules, an unbound measure is reflected by the word "unbound" in the relevant service sector and mode of supply. In the event that a service sector or mode of supply is unbound, a new measure that is inconsistent with market access and national treatment may be introduced in the future. The word "unbound" may be accompanied by an asterisk if a particular mode of supply is not technically feasible.

Sector-specific commitment: An entry in national schedules that indicates either the absence or the existence of market access, national treatment, or other limitations with respect to a specific service sector.
