MEMORANDUM ON PROPOSED TARIFF LEGISLATION of the 110th Congress¹

[Date approved: July 1, 2008]²

Bill No. and sponsor: H.R. 5144 (Mr. Steve Israel of New York).

Product information, including uses/applications and source(s) of imports:

The subject lenses for digital cameras are optical elements optimized for use with digital single lens reflex (DSLR) cameras. These digital cameras can accept a variety of interchangeable lenses with differing lengths, widths, weights, or other characteristics that enable the user to perform different photographic functions. The specific lenses described in the subject bill are normally referred to as zoom lenses, which permit the user to enlarge the image by bringing it in closer (zooming in) or minimize the image by moving out farther (zooming out), and frame the image as desired, by extending or retracting the focal length of the lens. The specific lenses subject to the bill enable the user to extend the focal length of the lens, expressed in terms of equivalent focal lengths of traditional optical single lens reflex (SLR) cameras⁴, up to a maximum of 200 mm and reduce the focal length to as low as 55 mm. The lenses are imported primarily from Japan and China. Dutiable U.S. imports under subheading 9002.11.90 (which covers a wide range of camera lenses) totaled $563.1 million in 2007, with Japan supplying about $460.6 million.

Estimated effect on customs revenue:

³ The sponsor/proponent did not identify any additional beneficiaries of this bill.

⁴ The focal length of optical lenses optimized for use with DSLR cameras is usually expressed in terms of equivalent focal length of traditional SLR cameras rather than the true focal length of DSLR camera lenses. Lenses optimized for use with DSLR cameras, while operating on the same basic optical principles as those for SLR cameras, are shorter than the equivalent SLR lens producing the same visual effect or image; each serves as the eye of the respective type of camera. This difference results from the relationship of lens size to the photographic image. The DSLR camera has a smaller electronic sensor compared to the standard 35 mm film frame of optical SLR cameras.

Technical comments:⁵

The intent of this bill is to extend the current temporary duty suspension under HTS heading 9902.23.50 until December 31, 2011, rather than to create a new duty suspension provision. The bill should be amended so that the expiration date of “12/31/2009” in this existing heading is changed to “12/31/2011” while leaving the article description unchanged.

⁵ The Commission may express an opinion on the HTS classification of a product to facilitate consideration of the bill. However, by law, only the U.S. Customs Service is authorized to issue a binding ruling on this matter. The Commission believes that the U.S. Customs Service should be consulted prior to enactment of the bill.
