II-13. COMPARABILITY OF CITRIC ACID AND UNREFINED CALCIUM CITRATE.--Please describe the differences and similarities between citric acid and unrefined calcium citrate for the following factors:

(a) Whether the upstream article is dedicated to the production of the downstream article (i.e., what percentage of unrefined calcium citrate is used in the production of downstream products):

(b) Whether there are perceived to be separate markets for the upstream and downstream articles:

(c) Differences in the physical characteristics and functions of the upstream and downstream articles:

(d) Differences in the cost or value of the vertically differentiated articles:

(e) Significance and extent of the processes used to transform the upstream into the downstream article:

- Please note: Questions II-14 through II-18 request information regarding your firm's production of citric acid that is used to produce other downstream products by your firm (such as sodium and potassium citrate). If your firm does not internally consume any of its citric acid production in the production of downstream products then indicate that this section is not applicable and skip to question III-1.
- II-14. In 2007, did your firm internally transfer (captively consume) any portion of its production of citric acid to produce downstream product(s) (product(s) other than sodium citrate or potassium citrate?
 - No Yes—Please identify the downstream product and the quantity of the citric acid used to produce the downstream product.
- II-15. Was all of the citric acid that your company transferred for internal processing actually processed into a downstream product?
 - Yes No –Please report the quantity and value sold in the citric acid merchant market in 2007.

Quantity (in 1,000 dry pounds): _____ Value (in $1,000): _____

Please report the quantity and value in 2007 that was unusable and/or was used for some purpose other than the processing of a downstream product. Please also specify the purpose.

II-17. In 2007, was the citric acid that you sold in the merchant market generally used in the production of downstream products by your customers?

□ No □ Don't know □ Yes–Please identify your two major customers, the major downstream products involved, and the approximate share (in percent) of the volume of your merchant market sales of citric acid in 2007 that was used in the production of downstream products by all of your customers.

II-18. In 2007, was any portion of your merchant market sales of citric acid used by your customers to produce the same downstream product(s) that your firm produces from captively produced citric acid?

🗌 No	Don't know	Yes–Please indicate the approximate share (in percent) of the volume	of your merchant ma	rket sales of citric acid in 2007 that was used in the production of the same do	wnstream products t	hat your firm produces from captively produced citric acid.
