BALANCES OF BUDGET AUTHORITY

Budget for Fiscal Year 2006

Government agencies are permitted to enter into obligations that result in immediate or future outlays only when they have been granted authority to do so by law. This authority is recorded as budget authority in the year that it first becomes available. Not all budget authority enacted for a fiscal year results in obligations and outlays in the same year. This analysis presents information on the unexpended balances of budget authority for the end of 2004, 2005, and 2006 as shown in the 2006 Budget.

- Unexpended balances of budget authority are the sum of obligated and unobligated balances.
- Unobligated balances are the amounts of budget authority that have not yet been committed by contract or other legally binding action by the government.
- Obligated balances are the amounts of obligations already incurred (for example, contracts signed) for which payment has not yet been made but will be required, i.e. undelivered orders and accounts payable. By law obligated balances are net of accounts receivable and unfilled customer orders.

Unobligated balances of budget authority (appropriations, contract authority, authority to borrow, and spending authority from offsetting collections) may be carried forward from one year to the next only when authority to incur new obligations in a succeeding period is specifically provided in law. Amounts that are obligated are carried as obligated balances until the obligations are paid or the authority is canceled.

In the aggregate, unexpended balances are the result of a lag between the time budget authority becomes available (for example, when an appropriation is enacted) and the actual outlay of funds, which usually occurs when Treasury electronically disburses the funds in payment of an obligation. For most government accounts, the interval between enactment of appropriations, the obligation of funds, and the related outlays is relatively short.

For annual accounts, appropriations are made available for obligation for only one year and any unobligated amounts expire at the end of that fiscal year. However, the obligated, but not yet paid, portions of the expired annual appropriations are normally carried forward for five years during which the balances are not available for new obligations but are available to pay old bills. After the five expired years, the balances are permanently canceled.

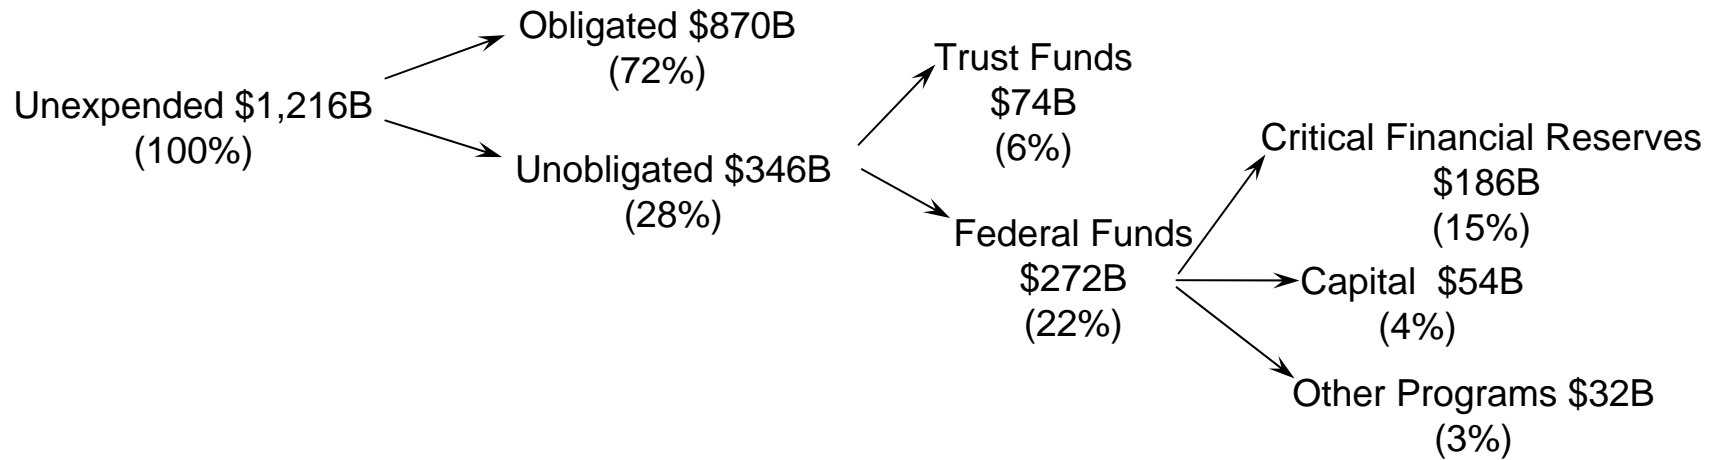

For multi-year accounts, appropriations are made available for more than one fiscal year. For no-year accounts, appropriations are made available until the objectives of the program have been achieved. It is in these instances that unobligated balances are carried forward and available for new obligations. When the budget authority of multi-year funds expires, the obligated, but not yet paid, portions are carried forward for five fiscal years, after which the balances are permanently canceled. No-year authority may be canceled by the head of the agency or the President if the purposes for which the funds were provided have been carried out and there has been no disbursement from the authority for two fiscal years. To the extent that balances have been canceled, old bills can be paid from up to one percent of the balances in any unexpired account available for the same purpose as the canceled accounts.

Total unexpended balances exceeded 1.2 trillion dollars by the end of 2006. See Table 1, Summary of Unexpended Balances, on page 13 for a distribution between Federal and Trust funds for 2004, 2005, and 2006. For a distribution of unexpended balances by agency, see Table 2, Total Unexpended Balances by Agency on page 14.

The following tree diagram provides an overview of the unexpended balances at the end of 2006.

FY 2006 End-of-Year Balances

(In billions of dollars)

The following provides more detail on the three categories of the Federal Fund Unobligated Balances, which are:

CRITICAL FINANCIAL RESERVES

Fifteen (15%) percent of the total unexpended balances are classified as Critical Financial Reserves. These reserves are further classified as:

- International Monetary Programs;
- Insurance and Other Programs; and
- Credit Liquidating Programs.

International Monetary Programs – These reserves are used to automatically fund United States (U.S.) balance of payment financing needs and for intervening in the foreign exchange market on behalf of the U.S. dollar.

The unobligated balances in the U.S. Quota accounts represent amounts that have been transferred from the Treasury and deposited with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for the U.S. share of its quota to the IMF, in return for international monetary reserves denominated in Special Drawing Rights (SDRs). These reserves are held at the IMF. This is somewhat akin to moving balances from one checking account to another.

Other SDR denominated assets appear as unobligated balances in the Exchange Stabilization Fund (ESF). These SDRs are used in transactions with other members of the IMF in settlement of their obligations to the Fund. The Secretary of the Treasury is also authorized to use the dollar and foreign currency assets of the ESF to intervene in the foreign exchange market on behalf of the U.S. dollar. The principal sources of the ESF's income have been profits on foreign exchange transactions, interest on foreign exchange swap transactions, and interest on investments held by the Fund. The estimated balances in the ESF are subject to considerable variance, as the amount and composition of assets and the interest rate earned on investments can change dramatically.

Insurance and Other Programs – The Federal government provides insurance in certain areas (notably deposit insurance, pension guarantees, and emergencies) and conducts other programs where there is a natural lag between the time funds are collected and needed. For these kinds of programs, appropriations and other budget authority provide contingency backup, reserves, and debt redemption or funding sources pending sequential events, such as negotiations with other countries and certification by Congress. The unobligated balances are carried forward to the extent such authority is not used or expires under the terms of the appropriations.

Credit Liquidating Programs – Pursuant to the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, the cash flows associated with pre-1992 direct loan obligations and loan guarantee commitments are reported on a cash basis in liquidating accounts. Normally at the end of each year, the balances in credit liquidating accounts are returned to the Treasury because the amounts can only be used to liquidate obligations incurred in the year the amounts are collected. The balances that remain are reserves needed to pay claims should there be a default on a loan that was guaranteed before the end of 1991.

CAPITAL

Four (4%) percent of the total unexpended balances are classified as capital investments. These reserves are further classified as:

- Major Procurement and Construction Programs; and
- Other Revolving Funds.

Procurement and Construction Programs – Budget authority for most major procurement and construction projects covers the entire cost estimated when the projects are initiated, even though work will take place and outlays will be made over a period extending beyond the year for which the budget authority is enacted. For these projects, the unobligated balances are needed to complete the project or program. Also, these balances reflect the long lead times required for such procurement. Real property projects in this category involve direct Federal government land acquisition and improvement, and construction of facilities, which become capital assets.

Other Revolving Funds – There are other revolving fund balances that do not meet the criteria established for the previous categories. These funds provide goods and services to other Federal government accounts or to the public. The balances in these funds are maintained as working capital to keep the fund revolving.

OTHER PROGRAMS

Three (3%) percent of the total unexpended balances are classified as Other Programs because they do not fit either of the previous categories. This category, which is estimated at $32 billion for 2006, includes:

- $ 9.0 billion for research and development programs;
- $ 5.8 billion for forward funded programs;
- $ 2.7 billion for subsidized housing programs, which include public and Indian housing (i.e. housing certificate funds) and housing programs (i.e. other assisted housing programs and Nehemiah housing opportunity funds); and
- $14.3 billion for other miscellaneous programs.

Research and Development Programs – To a large extent, this category includes balances associated with programs authorized to develop, design, test, and evaluate weapons systems and related equipment. It also includes balances attributable to research and development programs concerned with the following: spaceflight; domestic energy sources; and physical, biomedical, and environmental sciences. Multi-year appropriations of budget authority are frequently provided, and balances accumulate in these programs, because in some cases it is difficult to precisely determine the time or resources required to meet program objectives.

Forward Funded Programs – This is budget authority that is made available for obligation beginning in the last quarter of a fiscal year for the financing of on-going grant programs during the next fiscal year. The budget authority for such programs is included in the budget totals for the year in which it is appropriated. This type of funding is often used for education, training, and employment programs so that grants can be made prior to the beginning of the next school year. The Appendix to the Budget of the United States Government contains more information on forward funded programs.

Subsidized Housing Programs – These balances include approximately $2.7 billion for other assisted housing programs, homeless assistance grants, and community development block grants that will fund jobs to help rehabilitate housing units.

Other Miscellaneous Programs – As noted above, there is $14.3 billion in Federal fund unobligated balances in the other miscellaneous programs. These include:

- Department of Agriculture - $1.6 billion
- Department of Defense - $1.6 billion
- Environmental Protection Agency - $1.5 billion
- Department of Health and Human Services - $1.5 billion
- Department of Homeland Security - $1.4 billion
- International Assistance Program - $1.4 billion
- Legislative Branch - $1.1 billion
- Department of State - $0.7 billion
- Other agencies (each less than $0.5 billion in miscellaneous) - $3.5 billion

For more detail on the $14.3 billion classified as “Other Miscellaneous Programs” see Table 5, Federal Fund Unobligated Balances, by Agency and Program, which begins on page 19.

BRIDGE TABLE FROM BALANCES OF BUDGET AUTHORITY TO CASH
BALANCES

Bridge Table from Balances of Budget Authority to Cash Balances

The previous tables in this report provide information on the balances of budget authority that are shown in the “Program and Financing” (P&F) schedule of each expenditure¹ account in the Appendix to the Budget. The P&F schedule is also known as schedule P.

Balances in Schedule P. Schedule P presents balances of “budget authority,” some of which represent “cash” balances and some of which do not. Specifically, the balances in schedule P consist of balances from:

- Amounts appropriated;
- Offsetting collections credited to expenditure accounts; and
- Contract authority.

Balances of appropriations represent cash balances. No further legal action is needed to obtain cash to liquidate obligations incurred against appropriations. Balances of offsetting collections credited to expenditure accounts also represent cash balances. They result from laws that authorize the crediting of certain collections of cash (generally from business-like transactions; for example, the selling of stamps) directly to the expenditure accounts. However, balances of unfunded contract authority do not represent cash balances. These result from laws that provide the authority to obligate the Federal government in anticipation of receiving cash at a later date to cover disbursements.

Balances in Schedule N. These are balances in special and trust fund receipt² accounts that are “earmarked” by law for one or more programs. For example, the cash balances in the Social Security trust fund receipt accounts are earmarked to pay Social Security benefits. Before these balances are appropriated to expenditure accounts or when they are precluded from obligation because of a provision of law, such as a benefit formula or limitation on obligations, these balances are shown in the “Unavailable Receipts” (N) schedules in the Appendix to the Budget. These schedules appear before the P&F schedules of the expenditure accounts for which the collections have been earmarked. As a general rule, the balances in schedule N represent cash balances.

² Collections are deposited in “receipt” accounts, except when authorized by law to be credited to expenditure accounts. The amounts in the receipt accounts are eventually appropriated to expenditure accounts.

Relationship of Schedules P and N to Schedule J. The sum of the cash balances in schedules P and N that are associated with special or trust funds is the total cash balance for the funds. A “Status of Funds” (J) schedule covering all the cash balances is shown in the Appendix for selected funds with large cash balances. Also, the cash balances for each account are presented in the Treasury Combined Statement (TCS), which was previously called the Treasury Annual Report (TAR).

The following table provides the bridge from the balances of budget authority to cash balances for the trust funds. For an explanation of these funds, see chapter 22, “Trust Funds and Federal Funds,” in the 2006 Analytical Perspectives volume.

Table 9 starts with the balances of budget authority of the trust funds in schedule P, subtracts the unfunded balances of contract authority for the trust funds to arrive at the cash balances in the trust fund expenditure accounts, and adds the cash balances in schedule N to arrive at total cash balances for the trust funds group. Adjustments must be made to the funds where the respective schedule N is not on a cash basis.

CREDIT REFORM FINANCING ACCOUNTS

CREDIT REFORM - FINANCING ACCOUNTS WITH UNOBLIGATED BALANCES

Under the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 (FCRA), new account structures were established for post-1991 direct loan obligations and loan guarantee commitments. All estimated subsidy costs for new direct loan obligations and loan guarantee commitments are recorded in accounts that are called “program” accounts. All cash flows for the direct loans and loan guarantees are recorded in separate non-budgetary financing accounts. The net cash flows for these transactions are recorded outside the budget totals as a means of financing the deficit. Hence, these accounts are called “financing” accounts. In other words, only the un-reimbursed costs of making or guaranteeing new loans --- the subsidy costs, on a net present value basis, and administrative expenses, on a cash basis --- are counted in the budget totals. The FCRA authorizes financing authority, which permits obligations to be incurred and is parallel to the concept of budget authority. This table presents the unobligated balances of financing authority in the credit financing accounts. The unobligated balances in the direct loan financing accounts are needed to repay Treasury for the amounts borrowed in the past to make loans. These balances also provide working capital to pay the costs of foreclosing, managing, and selling collateral due to default. The unobligated balances in the loan guarantee financing accounts are needed to pay interest subsidies, claims to lenders when a borrower of a Federal guaranteed loan is delinquent or in default, and to provide working capital to pay the costs of foreclosing, managing, and selling collateral due to default.
