Where can I file a customer complaint regarding credit card interest rates. I am a Registered Nurse 20 years. I fell behind on my credit card payments 1 year ago, during a divorce. My payments have been on time for 1 year. My last credit card bill has a greater than 50% interest rate (I swear to GOD 50%!!) Is anyone investigating this outrageousness. I made 106,000 last year and Im living with my mommy at age 46 because I cannot get out from under this credit card debt. Im working 2 jobs now in attempt to keep up, but with this recent rate raise up from 39% interest to greater than 50% interest, the credit card companies will never have to make another loan again. I have paid off my credit cards at least twice over the past 3 years. Someone needs to put a cap on this rediculousness. This is the reason people are not able to pay their house payment, their credit cards are as much or more than their house payment. Thank you for your Time. Sincerely, Circling the Drain Sherry Berkenmeier, RN Living at mommies.
