

From: Jon Hege
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Hi,

Thank you for proposing new regulation to stop banks from automatically charging me $35 if I overdraft. That is practically robbery, and it is good to see new rules imposed to prevent it.

However, a far more serious theft is going on. That is the destruction of the value of my money by the Federal Reserve creating hundreds of billions of new dollars out of thin air.

Bernanke might as well come into my house and steal my belongings.

But you don't care, do you?

Yours Truly,
Jon Hege