My wife racked up several in about a week -- due to thinking she had more in the account than we had, or maybe that a check had cleared.. Anyhow for 6 purchases or point of sales, we were charged 33 bucks each. A few were for tiny checks she wrote -- like a 9 dollar purchase, which was toward a little business she's starting. So that nine dollar purchase cost her an extra 33. That happened 6 times, and I only found out when I went to cash a check at our account and was told we didn't have enough in the account to cover the check, and that we were like 600 bucks overdrawn. At least a third of the 600 bucks were comprised of that overdraft charges. In these rough times, as we try to keep afloat (I was laid off a few months back) that extra charge really really hurts.
