Dear Madam or Sir:

Opt-In has always been the American way of doing business ---Yes ... I wish to have this service. When an organization grants me a service that I never asked for, my "Red-Alert" apparatus goes off louder than the Klaxon on the Star-Ship Enterprise. Investigation quickly reveals that the new service is actually a profit center that the organization hopes I will trigger often.

Please, force these "Loan-Sharks", and I'm insulting the "Loan-Sharks", at our financial institutions to grant us some real customer service ---Opt-In.

Yours truly,

Jeffrey B. Krieger
