To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter because I have been using this product and have felt great for the past few years, you see, I was having trouble losing weight and feeling very tired and my condition was so upsetting, because I was always very fit, and after I had my last child found it very difficult to shed the weight then I discovered this product which gave me the energy to work out and kept the weight off, this was some years ago. And now I see that it was taken off the shelves, well I think this is a disaster for those who need it, Moms like myself who need the extra help, I am hoping that it will someday be back on the shelves, I have never been in such great shape and felt so great about myself until this product.

Please put it back on the shelf, I'm pleading .

To whomever this may concern:
