Subject: The proposed method of financing the "Do not call" listing

As private citizens, my wife and I strongly support the proposed method of financing. Those who profit from telemarketing and who consider it their right to interfere with the privacy of individuals by calling them at their homes at mealtime to conduct sales pitches are absolutely the most appropriate source of funds to support a federal "Do not call list" and the expenses associated with its enforcement. It can well be said, "They have brought it upon themselves."
