OFFICE OF PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

45 CFR Part 801

Voting Rights Program

AGENCY: Office of Personnel Management.

ACTION: Final rule with request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) is establishing a new office for filing applications or complaints under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended. This designation is necessary to enforce the voting guarantees of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments to the Constitution. This amendment establishes Alameda County, California, as a new office for filing applications or complaints.

DATES: This rule is effective March 23, 1996. In view of the need for its publication without an opportunity for prior comment, comments will still be considered. To be timely, comments must be received on or before April 22, 1996.

ADDRESSES: Send or deliver comments to Barbara Matthews-Beck, Attorney, Office of Personnel Management, Room 7F10, 1900 E Street NW., Washington, DC 20415.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Barbara Matthews-Beck, (202) 606-1700.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement and Order in United States of America v. Alameda County, California, et al., C.A. No. 95-1266 (N.D. Cal. January 22, 1996), Alameda County has been designated as an additional examination point under the provisions of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended. This designation is necessary to enforce the guarantees of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments to the Constitution. Accordingly, pursuant to section 6 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 1973d, OPM will appoint Federal Examiners to review the qualifications of applicants to be registered to vote and Federal observers to observe local elections.

Under § 553(b)(3)(B) of title 5 of the United States Code, the Director finds that good cause exists for waiving the general notice of proposed rulemaking. The notice is being waived because of OPM's legal responsibilities under 42 U.S.C. § 1973e(a) and other parts of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, which require OPM to publish counties certified by the U.S. Attorney General and locations within these counties where citizens can be federally listed and become eligible to vote, and where Federal observers can be sent to observe local elections.

Under § 553(d)(3) of title 5 of the United States Code, the Director finds that good cause exists to make this amendment effective in less than 30 days. The regulation is being made effective immediately in view of the pending election to be held in the subject county, where Federal observers will observe the election under the authority of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

I certify that this regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it adds one new location to the list of counties in the regulations concerning OPM's responsibilities under the Voting Rights Act.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

47 CFR Part 1

[FCC 96-88]

Computation of Time

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Commission makes three minor amendments to the Commission's computation of time rule. First, it adds an illustrative example to the rules to make more explicit that the three extra days added for service by mail where a response period is 10 days or less are calculated from the end of the filing period regardless of whether the last day of the filing period is a business day or a holiday. Second, it provides that where any party is served by mail, and the response period is 10 days or less, the filing period for all parties (not just the ones served by mail) shall be extended the additional three days. Third, it provides that service by facsimile machine shall be treated as hand delivery, not service by mail. The intended effect of this action is to make the rule clearer and more fair.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 22, 1996.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: David S. Senzel, Office of General Counsel (202) 418-1760.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Adopted: March 5, 1996; Released March 15, 1996.

1. In this order we make three minor amendments to the Commission's computation of time rule, 47 CFR 1.4. First, we add an illustrative example to the rules to make more explicit that the three extra days added for service by mail where a response period is 10 days or less are calculated from the end of the filing period regardless of whether the last day of the filing period is a business day or a holiday. Second, we provide that where any party is served by mail, and the response period is 10 days or less, the filing period for all parties (not just the ones served by mail) shall be extended the additional three days. Third, we provide that service by facsimile machine shall be treated as hand delivery, not service by mail.

2. Section 1.4(h) addresses the filing period for responding to pleadings that have been served on a party by mail. The rule states:

If a document is required to be served upon other parties by statute or Commission regulation and the document is in fact served by mail * * * and the filing period¹ for a response is 10 days or less, an additional 3 days (excluding holidays) will be allowed for filing a response. * * *

3. Section 1.4(j) governs the filing date for pleadings that would otherwise be due on a holiday (when the Commission is closed for business). It provides that:

If, after making all the computations provided for in this section, the filing date²

¹ Section 1.4(e)(3) provides: The term filing period means the number of days allowed or prescribed by statute, rule, order, notice or other Commission action for filing any document with the Commission. It does not include any additional days allowed for filing any document pursuant to paragraphs (g), (h) and (j) of this section.

² Section 1.4(e)(4) provides: The term filing date means the date upon which a document must be filed after all computations of time authorized by this section have been made.

falls on a holiday, the document shall be filed on the next business day. * * *

4. Because Section 1.4(h) indicates that the three extra days for a response to a pleading served by mail where the response period is 10 days or less is based on the "filing period," not the "filing date," and because Section 1.4(j) says that the "filing date" is not calculated until after all other computations are made, the additional three days for service by mail are added without regard to whether the last day of the filing period is a holiday and would therefore not be the filing date if service were by hand. Thus, the first day to be counted for the extra three days is the first business day after the end of the filing period whether the filing period ends on a business day or a holiday. How the rule applies is demonstrated in Summit Communications, Inc., 9 FCC Rcd 4833, n.1 (Cable Serv. Bur. 1994). In that case, a party filed a petition for reconsideration of a franchising authority's certification (47 CFR 76.911) on Thursday, October 28, 1993. The filing period for oppositions was 10 days (47 CFR 1.106(g)), so the filing period ended on Sunday, November 7. Service was made by mail, an additional three days were added following the end of the filing period on Sunday, November 7, and the opposition was due Wednesday, November 10. The fact that the "filing date" would have been moved forward from Sunday to Monday if there had not been mail service was irrelevant, since under the rules the filing date is not determined until after all other computations. Because a more recent staff decision interpreted the rule differently and incorrectly added the extra three days from the date the filing date would have been if service was by hand rather than from the end of the filing period, see Falcon Cablevision, 10 FCC Rcd 10409 n.3 (Cable Serv. Bur. 1995), we are amending the rule to be more explicit by adding an illustrative example setting out the correct interpretation of the rule.

5. We also amend Section 1.4(h) to provide that when one party is served by mail and the response period is 10 days or less, all parties should get the additional three days. This approach is most equitable because it avoids the possibility that some parties in multi-party litigation may be required to file their pleadings before others, giving others an opportunity to "preview" their arguments before filing their own pleading. We will therefore amend Section 1.4(h) to specify that if one party is served by mail and the response period is 10 days or less, all parties will be given the additional three days.
