

Overview

Table 45

Arrest Trends, City, by Sex, 2005–2006

- In 2006, the number of male and female juveniles arrested in the Nation's cities for robbery increased 19.3 percent and 25.9 percent, respectively, when compared with 2005 arrest data.
- Overall, the number of females arrested for robbery increased 9.1 percent, and the number of males arrested for this crime rose 8.8 percent.
- The number of individuals arrested in 2006 for murder and nonnegligent manslaughter decreased 3.8 percent for males and 2.3 percent for females; however, the number of male juveniles arrested for this crime increased 9.2 percent when compared with the previous year's figure.
- Of all juveniles arrested for violent crime in 2006, the number of males arrested increased 5.5 percent and the number of females arrested decreased 0.8 percent compared with the 2005 data.
- In 2006, the number of male juveniles arrested for alcohol-related offenses increased from the 2005 figures: the number of male juveniles arrested for drunkenness rose 9.9 percent, the number arrested for liquor law violations increased 8.7 percent, and the number arrested for driving under the influence rose 5.5 percent.
- The number of female juveniles arrested for alcohol-related offenses also increased: the number of female juveniles arrested for drunkenness rose 19.2 percent, the number arrested for driving under the influence increased 13.3 percent, and the number arrested for liquor law violations rose 11.0 percent.
- Overall in the Nation in 2006, the number of individuals arrested for drug abuse violations increased from the 2005 figure. The number of males arrested for this crime increased 2.5 percent, and the number of females arrested increased 2.2 percent. The number of male juveniles arrested for drug abuse violations increased 3.5 percent; however, the number of female juveniles arrested for drug abuse violations decreased 5.5 percent.