Schedule K – COMB Instructions

Companies with more than one company active in Montana need to compute their apportionment factor and Net Operating Loss (NOL) on a separate entity basis.

Apportionment Detail

If your company is filing a combined return and has more than one entity active in Montana, you will have to prepare a combined apportionment schedule. You will have to include the detail for property, payroll, and sales for the combined entity as a whole as well as for each entity with Montana activity.

General Instructions

For detailed instructions about what is included in the apportionment factors, please refer to the "Instructions for Schedule K" which are included in the Montana 2007 Corporation License Tax Booklet, Form CLT-4, starting on page 6.

Line 5, Apportionment Factor

Divide line 4 by the number of factors present. A factor is present if you have a value in the Everywhere Activity column for any of the three factors: property, payroll, or sales. For example, if no value is present in the Everywhere Activity column for property, the number of factors present is 2 (payroll and sales only). In this case, line 4 would be divided by 2 instead of 3 to calculate the total apportionment factor.

Net Operating Losses on a Separate Entity Basis

Please notice that the net operating loss carryover on your Montana Corporation License Tax Return is calculated on a separate entity basis (line 6e on Form Schedule K-COMB). This means that any loss carryover will have to be calculated on a separate entity basis. If you have not already calculated your income on a separate entity basis for any loss years, you will need to include the loss detail calculated on a separate entity basis when you file the return in the period that you are using the loss.
