

U.S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT
The Freedom of Information Act Guide to Treasury Records

The Treasury Department consists of the Departmental Offices (DO), which is also referred to as Treasury Headquarters, and the twelve Treasury bureaus. The topics listed below reflect records only for DO, which maintains more policy-type records as opposed to operational records.

You should submit requests for records of the Treasury bureaus directly to the bureaus=FOIA offices. Take a moment to research where your request should go. If you have access to the Internet, Treasury's web site is at: <http://www.treas.gov>. Also, the United States Government Manual is an excellent reference to learn the organizational structure of a Federal agency and the kinds of records an agency may maintain.

A. Records Already Available to the Public:

Delegation orders	Treasury Directives
News releases	FOIA/PA regulations
FOIA/PA Reports	GILS Index (AGovernment Information Locator Service")

These records are maintained at DO's Reading Room in the Treasury Library. Please call for an appointment at least 24 hours ahead of your visit: 202/622-0990. These records are also available through the Treasury web site: www.treas.gov.

C. Accessing Treasury Records Through the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)

The FOIA provides any person the right to request access to Treasury records. The request has to meet the following criteria before Treasury can take action:

- It must be in writing and signed by the person making the request;
- It must state that the request is being made pursuant to the FOIA;
- It must reasonably describe the records being requested;
- It must state the category of the requester for fee purposes (i.e., commercial, media, educational, all other);
- It must contain an agreement to pay all fees that might be incurred;
- It must state whether a copy of the records is desired, or inspection of records only.

Where to Send Your Request
